THE VOICE OF MADOC AND CENTRE HASTINGS
HASTINGS COUNTY'S OLDEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

No. 49

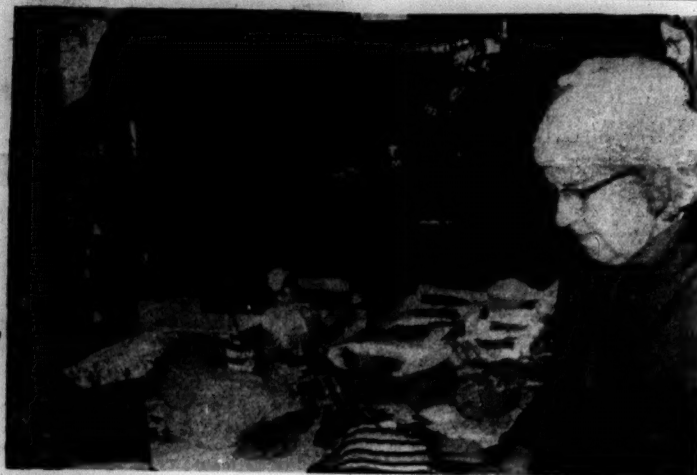

Madoc, Ont., Canada, Wednesday, Dec. 4, 1974

20¢ Single Copy

The action was fast and exciting Thursday as the Madoc Merchants put up a good fight against Picton, only to lose 8-2. For story, see inside.

Shoppers admire some of the bazaar goods at the Millbridge Anglican Women's bazaar, bake sale and tea, held Saturday at the Madoc Anglican Parish Hall.

Slippery road is blamed

Slippery roads were blamed for a single-vehicle accident on Highway 62 Monday afternoon, three miles north of the Cleveland Road.

Richard Earl Vilneff, 22, of RR 1, Marmora, was alone in his light van when he lost control of the vehicle and rolled completely over.

Mr. Vilneff received lacerations to his right leg in the accident, along with splinters of glass in his mouth.

His van was considered a write-off, an estimated $2,500 in damages.

Robert Hawley was acclaimed to office. Mr. Hawley, the owner of Hawley Hardware in Madoc, was the only person to pick up nomination papers before nominations closed on November 25. Therefore he was automatically acclaimed to office.

The second seat on Madoc Hydro Commission was filled previously during the first set of nominations, by Doug Pigden, a local garage operator.

Unattended car receives damages

An unattended car belonging to Percy Crawford, 63 Prince Albert St., Madoc, received damages of $35 in an accident on Davison St. in Madoc last Thursday.

The Crawford vehicle was struck by a car driven by Edward Taylor of Madoc. There was no damage to the Taylor car.

Initial venture proves success

After 25 years without an election, Madoc Township voters went to the polls Monday to elect three councillors for township council.

They gave their greatest support to Ross Moorcroft, who was making his first venture into township politics. Mr. Moorcroft, a native of the Madoc area, topped the polls with 294 votes.

Only 12 votes behind was incumbent Don Wannamaker, who has served on council for the past 4 years. He received 282 votes. In third place, was Harold Harris with 254 votes. Mr. Harris has served on Madoc township council for the past 5 years.

Losing out on his first bid for election, Clark Huffman, a Madoc area businessman, received only 63 votes of a total 893 ballots cast.

Mrs. Brownson, Madoc township returning officer, estimated voter turnout at less than one third of the eligible voters.

The hazardous driving conditions caused by driving snow and hail may have been the major cause of the low turnout. Also, Madoc township voters were casting their ballots only for the three council seats. The positions of reeve and deputy-reeve were filled by acclamation several weeks ago.

Cecil Woods was returned as reeve, and John Irwin became deputy-reeve.

Incumbent candidates back in Tudor and Cashel

All incumbent candidates were returned to office Monday by voters in Tudor and Cashel Township.

Incumbent reeve, Ross Sprckett, was returned to office with the votes running almost two to one in his favour. He received a total of 277 votes.

His rival for the post of reeve was Vers McMurray, a former township councillor, who received 146 votes.

In a close two way race for the office of deputy-reeve, incumbent Arnold Burkitt was returned to office over former councillor Claude Davidson. Mr. Burkitt received 230 votes, only thirty more than Mr. Davidson.

Township voters made a clear choice among five candidates who were competing for three council seats. The two incumbents, Tom Bruce and Stanley Robbins, along with newcomer Goldie Phillips finished way in front of newcomers John Milley and Joseph Brintnell.

Stanley Robbins lead the polls with 263 votes. Not far behind was newcomer Goldie Phillips with 234 votes. In third place was Tom Bruce, an incumbent, with 218 votes. John Milley and Joseph Brintnell failed in their attempt to secure seats on council. Mr. Brintnell received 146 votes, and Mr. Milley trailed last with 77 votes.

Returning officer, Burton Baker, estimated voter turnout at around 45 per cent. Mr. Burton thought the turnout was very good, considering the fact that approximately 60 per cent of the registered voters are non-residents of the area.

Elzevir, Grimsthorpe reject new for the old

Elzevir and Grimsthorpe Township voters rejected the new and decided to stay with the old and familiar as they returned the incumbent township council to office Monday.

The four incumbent councillors were clearly the people's choice as they received more than two-thirds of the total vote.

Incumbent Jack Robinson lead the polls with 207 votes, closely followed by fellow councillors Joe Kehoe, with 197, and Ken Cassidy, with 196.

Another incumbent, Ed Alexander, claimed the remaining council seat with 182 votes.

Newcomers Gordon Shoobridge and Arthur Gough failed in their bid for council seats, receiving 67 and 102 votes respectively.

According to returning officer Lloyd Price, 338 voters turned out to exercise their franchise. This was approximately 45 per cent of the eligible voters. Mr. Price said he considered the turnout "pretty good", considering the poor weather on election day.

Kenneth Smith was previously acclaimed to office as reeve, for his fifth term of office.

Students, teachers share

By Garnet Pigden

Ninety-one students and 16 teachers shared in this year's leadership program held at the Ontario Forest Technical School in Dorset. The theme of this sixth annual Dorset workshop was "Team Building."

These annual workshops are designed to help students improve their leadership and skills. At the conference, students experienced an informal atmosphere that enabled them to lose their shyness and communicate freely with teachers as well as other students.

The workshops were planned and conducted by two experienced leaders from the ministry of education and two CHSS staff members. Other teachers present acted as resource people to assist students in the seminar discussions.

The emphasis at this conference was on working in groups and developing leadership within the students that would benefit them during their high school years and after graduation.

During this conference, held from November 14 to 16, six sessions of 2½ to three hours in length were presented to the students. The material in these sessions provided students with a variety of new concepts and exercises to develop a practical working plan to carry out back home in Centre Hastings Secondary School. One group is already considering some exciting possibilities.

Receive extra $

Ontario's colleges, universities and community colleges will receive an extra $109 million for the 1975-76 academic year said James Auld, minister of colleges and universities.

Auld told the legislature that operating support to colleges of applied arts and technology will be increased by approximately 15.4 per cent to $200 million from $1.73 million.

The university system will receive a total of $568 million in operating funds, an increase of 16.9 per cent over this year's $486 million.

Social and recreational activities rounded out the program. Students returned home enthusiastic and eager to use their new skills in their own activities and in the life of the school.

Conferences of this type provide an opportunity for students to experience meaningful leadership training during a long weekend away from school. It remains to be seen if the delegates to this year's workshop will cultivate the knowledge they have obtained.

The students and teachers who attended the conference have a responsibility to use the new concepts and lines of thought by creating concrete methods of increasing House spirit and participation.

The future of the House system lies in the hands of those who attended Dorset. Hopefully they will develop practical applications of the skills which they have acquired.

Two young skaters are one lap closer to completion as they round the corner of the Madoc arena. They joined over 60 other skaters in a skate-a-thon held to raise money for the Minor Hockey Association and the skating club.

Enthusiam in evidence

By Mary Johnston

Enthusiasm and determination were very much in evidence Saturday as over sixty skaters of various ages participated in a money-raising skate-a-thon at Madoc arena.

The purpose of the skate-a-thon was to raise money for the minor hockey association and the skating club.

Before the event, the skaters had lined up sponsors who pledged a certain amount of money per lap. On the day of the skate-a-thon, each skater did his best to complete fifty laps around the rink.

The laps had to be done within a one hour time limit, without stopping.

Most of the skaters were children. However a few mothers and the manager of a minor hockey team, who hadn't skated in 15 years, tried their hand at the fifty laps.

Skaters like little Jamie Danford astonished spectators and sponsors by completing his fifty laps early Saturday morning.

Prizes will be awarded to the skaters who raise the most money. First prize for both boys and girls is a new pair of skates. Second prize for the boys is a pair of hockey gloves. The girl who places second will win skate warmers. Third, fourth and fifth prizes for the boys are hockey sticks. The girls who place third, fourth, and fifth win fur mitts.

The amount of money raised by the skate-a-thon will not be known until all pledges have been collected.

LOOKING BACK....

15 years ago

Elmer Wilson was elected Reeve of Huntingdon for another term at the nominations held last Friday. Only a small number of ratepayers were present for the nomination meeting.

An automatic Laundromat is scheduled to open in Madoc Village in the premises where the post office was formerly located. It is expected it will be in operation about the middle of the month.

Madoc Annual Santa Claus Parade sponsored by the Madoc and District Chamber of Commerce, will be held this Saturday afternoon. The parade which will be headed by Dorothy Dickey Majorettes from Belleville, is scheduled to get underway at 1 p.m. Included in the parade will be two bands, several floats, clowns, etc. Those in charge of the parade report that this year's will top anything to date. Following the parade, there will be free candies and free shows for all the youngsters.

Fire completely gutted the home of Mrs. Egbert Demorest in Madoc Village about 2:30 a.m. last Saturday morning. Mrs. Demorest was alone in the home and had it not been for her cat, which aroused her, she might have been suffocated by the dense smoke. However, she ran to her neighbour's, Mrs. Bert Bailey, and the firemen were soon on the scene. Owing to the smoke and fire in partitions it was some time before they had the flames under control. It was impossible to save anything and the contents were a complete loss. The loss is partially covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is believed it may have started from defective wiring.

This season Madoc will not have a Senior or Intermediate hockey team. It is well known that hockey is responsible for most of the revenue at the rink and without a team, the Kiwanis Club which operates the rink, finds itself in a financial dilemma. It costs about $800.00 each season to operate the rink, which includes lighting, fuel caretaking, etc. After careful consideration, the club has decided to open the rink for skating and is asking the public to assist the financing.

...with Karen Jones 24 years ago

Reeve Jack Kincaid and all members of the village council, as well as the Hydro Commissioner, and three Public School Trustees, were elected by acclamation at the nomination meeting held last Friday night.

Members of the council are Judson McGowan, Philip Rivers, Wesley Hulin and Murray Smith.

Hydro Commissioner is T.H. Rupert, who has been chairman for several years. Members of the School Board elected are Lloyd Blue, George Duffin, and Charles Johnston.

As far as the Review can learn, a record was established when there was only one nomination for reeve and only four nominations for council.

Ken Nicol, who has been chairman of the Public School Board for the past 12 years, was nominated for trustee, but stated that he did not intend to qualify as did Percy Holland, who also has been a member of the Board for a number of years. Dorian Stewart was also nominated but did not qualify.

A Santa Claus parade, sponsored by the businessmen of Madoc, will be held in the village on Thursday afternoon, Dec. 14.

As a result of a warning by Dr. S.R. Beatty, Medical Officer of Health, a very successful clinic was held this week at the Madoc Public School when 176 pupils were vaccinated. The warning was issued as a result of a whooping cough epidemic in the district.

There will be an election for reeve only in Huntingdon township this year with two councillors. Decil Geen and Elmer Wood are contesting the reeveship.

Present reeve of the township, Arthur Hagerman, has resigned. There will be no election for council with MacSables, Alfred Herrington, Elmer Wilson and Lloyd McCauley receiving acclamations.

The Review extends congratulations to Mr. James McGuire of Crookston who celebrated his 96th birthday on Monday, Nov. 27. On Nov. 11, Mr. and Mrs. McGuire, who are both enjoying good health, celebrated their 59th wedding anniversary.

Want servants to resume bargaining

The Ontario Government issued a call for the Civil Service Association of Ontario to resume bargaining immediately on a new wage offer that the province is prepared to make.

Eric Winkler, chairman of the management board of cabinet, told the House that his ministry delivered a letter to Charles Darrow, CSAO president, stating that the government's initial wage offer is negotiable.

The letter said the government also is considering some form of cost-of-living compensation for the 19,500 members of the operational services unit of the CSAO.

The CSAO president said the letter indicated that the government is prepared to improve its initial wage offer of increases ranging from 18 to 25 per cent in a two-year contract.

On November 17, Darrow spoke to 5,600 CSAO members in seven Ontario cities on closed-circuit television and urged members to reject the government's initial offer and to empower the CSAO executive to call a strike January 1.

Darrow said that the strike mandate, if approved, would only apply to the government's initial offer, and does not give the CSAO a mandate to call a strike without consulting the membership on any subsequent government offer.

Couple celebrate golden anniversary

Saturday Nov. 23 was a mile stone in the life of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Whiteman as they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

The busy day started with an open house at the home of their youngest son, where they had a full afternoon receiving friends and relatives. Later they were guests of honour at a dinner and dance at the Madoc Parish Hall.

This was part of Mr. and Mrs. Whiteman's children's gift to them. Before the dinner was served, the bride and groom of fifty years, renewed their wedding vows to Rev. Heard at which time they exchanged gifts.

A beautiful ring of a ruby, encircled with diamonds for the bride, and a wedding band for the groom were the gifts. The remainder of the evening was enjoyed by dancing and visiting with friends and relatives from as far away as St. Catharines.

A host of cards and gifts were received and MPP and Mrs. Clark Rollins attended with the best wishes to present the Ontario Plaque. Letters of congratulation were received from Prime Minister Trudeau, Mr. Jack Ellis, Mr. Robert Stanfield, Mr. William Davis and a special telegram from Governor-General, Jules Leger.

Memorial gifts dedicated

At the regular meeting of the St. John the Baptist Anglican Church, Madoc, December 1, JoAnn Ruth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bonter was baptized last week. Godparents were Mr. and Mrs. B. Bell of Peterborough.

The following memorial gifts were dedicated by the Rector, Rev. J.H. Thompson with kind permission from the Bishop of Ottawa.

A baptismal stall in memory of Mr. Clifford Smith; a white linen altar cloth, white burse and veil and prayerbooks in memory of Mrs. Mary Warren; prayerbooks in memory of Mrs. Thelma Lummiss; baptism and Holy Communion linens, pall and veil in memory of Mr. Walter Cooney; prayerbooks in memory of Mr. Leslie Ray, Mrs. Myrtle Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Darton. Many family connections and visitors attended this memorial service, coming from other communities.

The Advent wreath was also explained with Connie Taylor lighting the first candle. The purpose of the wreath is to deepen our understanding of Christmas. As time passes from Advent Sunday to the Vigil at Christmas, the wreath grows in beauty until it is replaced finally by the Christmas crib and the Christmas tree- the symbols of Christ and the eternal life which he has won for us. From a darkened world, He came to be the Light of the world.

Mr. Alan Dunford, lay reader assisted the Rector in the service.

Merchants drop two

Madoc Merchants lost both their games last week but in an all out determined effort.

On Thursday, November 28th, in Madoc, they lost to visiting Picton by a score of 8-2. The score was 1-0 at the end of the first period on an early goal by Picton's B. Harrison. In the second period at the 22 second mark, Picton went ahead 2-0 on a goal by Al Ferguson. Approximately 8 minutes later J. Guernsey made it 3-0 for Picton. Finally at the 11:13 mark, Gord Donaldson put Madoc on the scoreboard. Gene Francis and Glen Hamblin assisted. Shortly before the period ended, however, B. Harrison put Picton ahead 4-1.

In the third period, Madoc still came on strong and at the 4:15 mark, Ron Powell made it 4-2, assisted by Bob Chapman and Harold Bailey. But that proved to be Madoc's final goal of the game, due to the superb and outstanding goal-keeping by Picton's R. Harrison, who continually tossed the Madoc shots away. Picton went on ahead to win 8-2, on goals by T. Baverstock and D. Senior, each with 2 goals apiece. Penalties in the game were few as each team received only five minor penalties each. Bob Hart was in the net for Madoc.

On Saturday, Nov. 30th, Madoc visited Campbellford, losing 12-5. Madoc lead 1-0 at the end of the first period but that lead was quickly nullified in the second as Campbellford lead 5-1 at the end of that period. The goalscorers and penalties were not available.

Madoc visits Picton Wednesday, Dec. 4th, at 8 pm. Their next home game is Thursday, Dec. 5, at 8:15 pm, hosting Tamworth.

But won this one

The Madoc Merchants scored their first win of the season recently when they defeated the Tweed BP Oil Kings 5-3 in Tweed.

Madoc jumped into an early lead on a goal by Frank Pinder at the 11:20 mark of the first period. Brian Rollins and Harold Bailey assisted.

The score remained 1-0 going into the second period until the 1:54 mark when Brian Brooks scored for Tweed, assisted by Doug Potts to tie the game.

Lloyd Acorn put Madoc out in front again with a goal near the midway point of the period, assisted by brother Glen.

Grant Hagerman tied it up for Tweed early in the third period with an assist from Brian O'Coin.

Gene Francis put Madoc back on top once more at the 14:00 mark with a goal assisted by Gord Donaldson and Bill Davis.

Less than two minutes later, Tweed's Terry Lesage tied the game again, with assists by Grant Hagerman and Doug Perry.

With 1:48 remaining in the game, Bill Hartwick scored for Madoc, unassisted and 20 seconds later Brian Rollins got the clincher to put Madoc ahead 5-3. Stan Osborne and Frank Pinder drew assists.

With seven seconds left in the match, a fracas in the Madoc net between Madoc goalie Bob Hart and Tweed's Brian O'Coin gave both minor penalties for roughing.

Madoc's Stan Osborne also received a game misconduct.

Total penalties in the game were, for Tweed, 10(all minors) and for Madoc seven (six minors and one game misconduct).

Centurion grapplers sixth

By Garnet Pigden

The Cobourg Invitational Wrestling Tournament was held at Cobourg East High School on Saturday, Nov. 30. Ten wrestlers participated from CHSS. Out of the 13 wrestling teams competing in the tournament, the Centurion grapplers placed sixth.

This was the first competition of the season and many of the members on our team were just beginning to get back into shape and to become knowledgeable of forgotten wrestling techniques.

On December 7, some of our grapplers will be competing at the Queen's University Invitational Tournament in Kingston.

At the Cobourg Tournament, Mike Young, a novice wrestler, astonished everyone by placing an impressive second in the 98 lb weight division. He won his first two matches but was defeated in the finals. He should have a very successful year against the competition from the Quinte area.

Dave Twiddy in the 106 lb. class and Murray Dunford in the 130 lb. class failed to be victorious on Saturday but with experience, both of these wrestlers should develop into great competitors.

At 136 lbs., Earl MacKnight won four matches, three of them by pins. In the finals, he was leading his opponent on points but fell prey to a clever hold and was pinned. Earl placed third in the tournament. Last year Earl had a very successful season placing second at the Bay of Quinte Championships and earning the title of Centurion Wrestler of the Year.

Jim Fraser, a grappler with three years of interscholastic wrestling failed to exercise his experience and lost to two tough opponents.

The Centurion team boasted four competitors in the 157 lb. class. Novice wrestlers Neal Maclean and Harvey Mumby found the path to victory difficult and second year wrestler Tom Johnson managed to win only one match. However, Dale Neal, a wrestler with two years experience, placed in the number two spot by recording three triumphs each by a pin. Dale was a very impressive novice wrestler last year, placing fourth in the Central Ontario Championships.

Charles Hall, a new face to the Centurion team, but one not without experience placed third in the 178 lb. class by winning two matches. Charles placed fourth in COSSA last year, representing Dunbarton School.

Mr. Bob Pesowsky, the coach of the wrestling team and former wrestler said his team "fought well on Saturday and all members look promising. They are very keen competitors and we can expect good results at future competitions to be held in Montreal, Kingston and Pembroke. Not only are victories assured at these tournaments, but we should also prove triumphant in the Bay of Quinte League.

"On Saturday, Dec. 14, we shall be wrestling at Quinte Secondary School in the First Belleville Firemen's Invitational Tournament. We can look forward to this competition with high expectations and should produce a number of champions."

Marmora and Lake Townships will have a completely new council come January of 1975.

Western Riders crown 18-year-old

The Timbertrial Western Riders held their fifth annual banquet and awards presentation last Saturday evening, highlighted by the crowning of 18-year-old Heather Barton of Havelock as Miss TWR 1974-75. Miss Barton will represent the club at various club functions through the coming year, including Quarterama 75 in Toronto next March.

Heather was also among the trophy winners, being presented with the Senior Showmanship Award and the Halter and Performance High Points.

Brian Harris of Havelock captured the 1974 Overall High Points and other trophy winners were: Ladies Barrels, Debbie Haughton; Mare and Foal Class, Mr. and Mrs. Rick McKey; Trail Class, Brian Harris; Senior High Points, Debbie Haughton; Pony High Points, Bobby Thompson; Junior High Points, David Heffernan; Reining, Brian Harris; Junior Showmanship, Diane Jewett; Western Pleasure, Janet Harris; Junior Pickup Man, Larry Spooner; Senior Pickup Man, Brian Harris.

Awards were given to the 1974 Executive, Lawrence Haughton, Irene McKey, Lois Ann Cole and Arthur Wright, in appreciation of a job well done.

The election results for the new executive are: president, Melvin Wood; vice-president John Lawrenson; secretary, Heather Barton; treasurer Debbie Virag; past president, Lawrence Haughton.

Voters went to the polls in huge numbers, despite the handicap of falling snow and freezing rain to completely oust all incumbent councillors and elect a brand new slate put into the election by the newly formed Marmora and Lake Townships Ratepayers Association.

Former Marmora Village Reeve Ritchie Wells whipped incumbent Reeve Graham Bell 544-376.

Former township reeve John Wilkes, who lost out to Reeve Bell two years ago, made a comeback by defeating Councillor Pat Bertrand 488 to 410 to take the post vacated by Deputy Reeve Buck Jones who declined to run again.

Ted Bouter, Charles Lajole and Joseph McGrath took the three councillor seats, polling 548, 535 and 509 votes respectively. Councillor Drummond polled 416 and a newcomer to the local political scene, Bob Sanderson, polled 349.

To The Electors of Madoc Village

Having been a Madoc man all my life, I've seen the progress and the failures of my town for many years. Although water and sewer to the entire village immediately is not financially possible, I believe that progress along these lines can be made without overburdening the ratepayers of this village. I belong to no political party and, if elected, I will be a yes-man to no one on council or individual. I promise to work for the good of the town on all projects I deem to be to your benefit.

★ Look at these features ★ THE HIDDEN BENEFITS

1. Fast freezer coils are firmly held by spot welded steel bands to the inside walls. A unique stretching procedure ensures that all parts of the coils are in contact with the walls. Finally the tubes are coated with a chemical to increase the area of contact for freezing.
2. A large accumulator is used to ensure that no particle of dust or oil can be introduced into the freezing system.
3. Outer and inner cabinet are carefully sealed against moisture — ensuring long life and efficient use.
4. Heavy duty double base skids hold the cabinet rigid under a heavy full load of frozen food.
5. Breaker strip top trim — non breakable, easy to clean, forms a shelf for storage baskets. The trim is designed to direct warm moist air away from the cold sides and minimize frost build-up.
6. Perfect seal lid — self aligning, flexible lid, constructed to ensure a tight close fit.
7. Interior direct flood light: provides non-glare lighting over the storage area — easy to see and find food packages of your choice.
8. Pre-set cold control by experts at the factory — tested to maintain zero safe operation and maximum performance — no adjustment needed.
9. Special sealed compressor — internally cushioned, oil sealed for quiet heavy duty operation.
10. All steel rigid construction — top quality, heavy gauge — steel braces and supports used throughout, rust proofed by bonderizing and finished with two coats of baked enamel.
11. To ensure a completely square cabinet a unique roll forming process is used in manufacturing. Because of this process ribs are rolled into the cabinet, basically for design, but they add rigidity and extra strength.

Back to Basics ...

With inflation being a real Scrooge this Christmas, why not get back to basics? It's not too late to make your own Christmas decorations, using food!

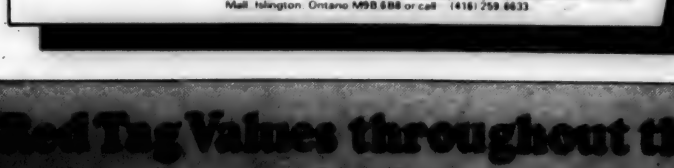

By kneading 4 cups all purpose flour, 1 cup salt and 1 1/2 cups water, you will have enough dough to make about 25 small ornaments. Using your imagination, shape the dough into little animals, angels, stars or whatever. Decorate with food coloring or acrylic paints; add a wire hanger for make a hanger for a ribbon and bake at 350° for about 30 minutes or until very hard. After baking, spray or paint with a clear polyurethane coating.

Cover oranges, lemons and walnuts with colored cellophane. Group in small bunches and attach with wire to metal part of a wreath or swag.

Take fruit, nuts and fir. Arrange around a candle, which is anchored in a loosely sunder, candle, earthenware, mixing bowl or other houseware item. Accent with colorful bows. Makes a great, inexpensive gift or decoration.

You'll have fun and so will the kids. Best of all, you'll be able to eat the fruit and nuts later!

When you're out looking for a high performance snowmobile, don't be taken in by size.

Most people think high performance snowmobiles are big. Simply because most of them are. But with the SS, we took a different approach. We made it compact. There are certain advantages inherent in a compact snowmobile. First of all, it's easier to handle on a tight trail. But more important, it's light. And lightness is essential when you're after performance.

It doesn't take a lot of money to get a lot out of winter

Dollar for dollar, Elan is a lot of sled. Because Ski-Doo put a lot into it.

A tough reliable Rotax engine. An endless rubber track reinforced with flexible embedded rods. A comfortable 3-layer foam sandwich seat. Easy access controls. Tinted windshield. And a full one year warranty. There are 5 Elan models, from the economy 250 single cylinder (with choice of electric start to the 250 twin deluxe and the hot T294SS: five ways to get a lot of fun out of winter for a little bit of money.

Finding a snowmobile that'll stand up to winter year after year, is no trouble at all

The machine you're looking for has been around for a long time. It's called Olympique. And of the million snowmobiles Ski-Doo has made, it accounts for about one out of three.

That adds up to a lot of Olympique sled. And a lot of experience at making them reliable.

A few hot features don't make a high performance snowmobile. It's how you put them all together

Take the all-new T'NT from Ski-Doo. We've got the engines: 3 big twins by Rotax that really crank it out. But, instead of just worrying about the performance you need to get you moving, we also worry about the reliability you need to keep you moving.

There are a lot of snowmobiles around with big, fast engines, slide suspension systems and sleek, racy styling.

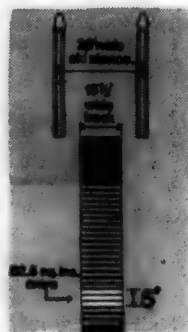

And there are a lot of snowmobile buyers who think that's all you need to make a high performance machine. But, there's more to it than that.

This winter, go places you couldn't go before on a snowmobile.

Until now most snowmobiles couldn't take you everywhere you wanted to go. This winter there's one that will.

The new T'NT Everest by Ski-Doo. Now you're free to take the rough with the smooth, take the powdered snow or the icy trail.

It's a full 16 1/2" wide. And an extra 5" long. With 1247 square inches of rubber on the snow, and a light, steel-reinforced aluminum frame. Everest keeps ground pressure down to a 1-3 of a pound per square inch.

Ontario great winter playground

Ontario is an immense and sculptured land. Once covered by gigantic grinding glaciers, it was left pitted with a quarter-million lakes, and more rivers than man has ever counted.

For six months of the year this wild and beautiful land lies buried in the snow. And this is the inviting condition that makes Ontario the winter enthusiasts' paradise.

Wherever you go in the province from about November/December to March/April you'll find snow and people making the most of it.

For instance, you might elect to spend your winter holiday close to one of our large urban centres. Toronto perhaps, a city of two million.

You then find yourself drawn into the vortex of all that makes great northern cities great. Live theatre, massive shopping centres, entertainment of every kind, a thriving business community and the strong pulse of sheer vitality.

Even so you'd be only a few miles away from where the winter funlands begin and they continue on and on to places in the North so remote that you'd not see another person for days on end.

It's in between these two extremes that the greatest winter playground of all lies.

If you ski, you'll find Ontario's slopes, runs and trail skiing just about as fine and testing as you could wish. You'll also find modern ski facilities. Ski and chair lifts, ski shops, rental facilities, snow-making equipment in many places, instruction by ski professionals and apres-ski life at its most attractive.

Snowmobile enthusiasts, expert or beginners, will understand that this is the land of its birth. Where better to test one's skills?

Snowmobile trails have been cut through miles and miles of rugged bush, and across frozen lakes and rivers that have never heard the sound of such a machine. There are race courses, too, and servicing, storing and rental facilities.

But really, it all depends on what you want to do. If you like ski-jumping, we've got the jumps. And the campsites for winter camping and cooking out. Even winter survival courses. We've got horseback riding in the snow, and bob-sledding, tobogganing, and horse-drawn sleighs. To those you can add ice-fishing, curling, swimming in heated outdoor pools, and steam and sauna baths. You can also enjoy the many colourful winter canivals, competitions, meets and bonspiels-just watching or joining in, depending on your preference.

Best of all: wherever you choose to go you are certain to find really excellent accommodations. Splendid lodges, fine hotels, motels, chalets and cottages-most licensed for liquor and offering good food at sensible prices. Many offer entertainment and some cater particularly to conventions, private parties, business meetings, banquets, and the like.

Ontario is yours to visit and enjoy this winter. And we'll be there with you. Come and join us. You'll love it.

"Think snow" and "snow go"

"Think snow" and "snow go" are phrases common to everyone who is interested in outdoor activities at this time of year. Snowmobilers are looking over their machines and gear to ensure readiness at the drop of the first white flake.

While you are waiting for the snow the Ontario Safety League suggests the clearance of trails before snow drifts impede the removal of hidden obstructions and the marking of trails for safe operation. Both activities move along more efficiently and with greater effect if done while the ground is dry and fallen tree limbs are visible.

Recognizing that to operate a snowmobile safely, a snowmobiler must know where he is going, the Ontario Safety League developed colorful trailmarkers that readily identify the trail. Marked "Trail", "Danger", "Prohibited", along with directional arrows and high-reflective tape for night operating. The trailmarkers are reasonably priced for economical trail marking. This snowmobile safety program is now being used throughout the province by snowmobile clubs, winter resorts and government agencies.

Bon Echo Park offers excellent opportunity

Bon Echo Provincial Park offers the snowmobile enthusiast an excellent opportunity to explore and enjoy its hinterland. With a combined length of 33 miles, Bon Echo's two trails take their users through a number of different woodland environments which are characteristic of the Canadian Shield. Although winter camping facilities are presently unavailable, persons wishing to camp at the park are most welcome to use the basic facilities (privy toilets, water, firewood, tables, parking, etc.)

For a safe and enjoyable experience, we ask that you review and observe the following rules and suggestions:

- (1) Upon arriving at the park, proceed down the main park road, cross the Bon Echo Creek, and park your vehicle in the parking lot on the left.
- (2) Never start out on the trails alone. Use the buddy system, and should a breakdown occur, remain on the trail. Do not attempt to hike across country.
- (3) Remain on the designated trails and obey all posted signs. The trails have been located to make your trip as interesting as possible with a minimum of disturbance to wildlife and the natural environment.
- (4) Avoid excessive speed. Plan your trip so that time will not compete with your enjoyment. Allow 1 1/2 hours to complete the short trail and 3 hours to complete the long trail.
- (5) Always carry spare equipment for your machine including such items as, spark plugs, drive belt, gas, tool assortment, matches, knife, and nourishment.
- (6) We recommend that you do not operate your vehicle on lakes or beaver ponds.
- (7) Do not litter. Carry out what you take in. Plastic pack-out garbage bags are available for this purpose.

"Kawartha"

The Indians who made their home here first named this lush and lovely region. "KAWARTHA", they called it - happy lands and bright waters. Never was a more appropriate name provided in any language, for the natural beauty of the Kawartha lands and waters defies description.

Winter time fishing is good too!

Summer isn't the only time to hit area lakes for the fun and enjoyment of fishing. Many anglers return in the winter, drill a hole in the ice, and try and catch those big ones that may have escaped them last summer. Speckles, Grey Trout, Rainbows, Bass, etc., are oft times caught through the ice. But you had better dress warm.

Try a picnic in the snow with a 'different' menu

Ever try a picnic in the snow? Instead of packing your hamper with the usual summer fare, bring along all the ingredients you'd use for a normal winter day family dinner.

Like beefsteak with sauce, succulent kabobs and warm buns, whole vegetables, and a dessert of baked cinnamon apple or perhaps a banana delight.

Such camp fire cuisine can be prepared without need for a pot or a pan, for the secret is foil cooking, a technique known to most outdoor enthusiasts only for baking potatoes.

For many Ontario outdoor sportsmen, "travelling light" is a constant concern. Thanks to foil cooking, this need not mean that eating must be a bland affair.

Only a little advance planning and a lot of heavy duty aluminum foil are required.

Most anything can be prepared by wrapping it loosely, sealing the edges and placing it on a bed of hot hardwood coals.

Foil can be used to "pan-fry" eggs, bacon or other meats by fabricating a frying pan using a Y-shaped twig.

Even bread and buns can be made by twisting the batter over a buttered stick and wrapping them loosely in foil, by the fire, to keep the batch warm.

A sheet of foil rigged to wood is often handy as a reflector on very cold days to hold the heat in the cooking area.

A hearty meal that can be prepared in advance for cooking on an outing is the "trial pack." It's a single package containing a good-sized ground beef patty over a slice of onion, and topped with a slab of butter, carrot chips or other similar vegetable. The wrapping should be loose enough to permit the melted butter to circulate. But always ensure that edges are well sealed.

A succulent dessert can be prepared by coring an apple, not quite through the bottom, placing a generous supply of raisins and brown sugar in the hollow and wrapping like a Halloween treat. A connoisseur might want to add cinnamon.

To avoid any disappointments, check and remember cooking times for various foods and plan the cooking so the entire meal is ready at once.

Virtually anything can be prepared over a camp fire either by wrapping it to broil or cook or constructing a reflector oven to bake. Wrapped chicken is a favorite, as Curling attracts young and old alike and the swish of the broom, and the sound of the rock, spell C U R L I N G to many an area sports fan. Men's, ladies, mixed and youth curling leagues are found throughout the area, and many clubs stage open bonspiels to which all pre-registered teams are welcome. It's a great participant sport - and one that is fast growing in popularity.

BILL SMILEY

Batching fun

By BILL SMILEY

ONE of my real pleasures in life is "batching it." I've just been through ten days of it, and have another stretch coming up. I look back on the one with nostalgia, and forward to the other with anticipation.

There are a lot of men who go around with a long face when their wife is going to be away for a spell, and they'll have to look after themselves. Some of them would literally starve to death if there were no restaurants. Others actually "miss" their wives constant babble.

And there are a lot of women who are convinced that their poor weaklings of husbands will be hard done by if they leave them to fend for themselves for a few days. There are also a lot of women who are convinced that their husbands are going to miss their presence dreadfully. Both convictions are erroneous, in my case.

I love my wife, but oh, you happy, carefree days of batching it. I feel the way I used to, about nine years old, when school is letting out in June.

For one thing, there's no teacher at me all the time, trying to make me behave, clean up after me, and learn something new, all at once. This is hard work, and I'm lazy.

Nope, when I put the old battleaxe on the bus, or see the car drive off, I try to look mournful, and wave a fervent goodbye, then I give a great sigh of relief, and feel like a fellow who has just walked out the jailhouse gates.

I'm not saying that marriage is synonymous with prison, though it is a life sentence. I'm just saying that it's nice to get a weekend pass once in a while, for good behaviour.

First thing I do when the old girl disappears over the horizon is kick my shoes off, settle down in a comfortable chair with a beer and the evening papers. I read it through with quiet enjoyment, no interruptions.

Nobody relating how she changed the beds, did two washings, called the plumber. Nobody wanting to talk about decorating the spare room. Nobody telling me I had to go over the bills with her. No, just me and the paper. I read front page, editorials, columns, sports and entertainment. Normally, I never get past the front page.

Nobody saying, "Dinner's nearly ready don't open another beer which would you like canned peas or frozen spinach." I have my dinner when I jolly well feel like it. Maybe nine p.m., or ten.

And when I do, it's a gourmet spread. Unlike some of those snivelling wretches who can't boil a cup of water without spoiling the flavour, I was brought up in a large family, and was a pretty good, rough cook when I married. A far better cook than the bride, I might add, sotto voce.

And since then, I've filed off a number of the rough edges, and can turn out a good meal. Chops and sausage, bacon and eggs are child's play, along with steak. I can turn out a creditable turkey, ham, roast of beef. I can make stuffing, bake a fish.

So, when I'm alone, I don't go hungry. Oh, not that I roast a beef, or turn out a golden brown turkey.

But I don't settle for the baked potato, fried pork chop and canned corn routine, either. That's for workaday cooks and workaday appetites and workaday marriages.

Nor am I one of those fancy-dans who fool around covering the essential blandness of their cooking with a lot of spices and sauces.

I'm more apt to turn out a nice mixed grill: bacon, a small fresh lamb chop, a sausage or two, a bit of liver, and a gram or two of kidney. If they're not on hand, I get the latter two items out of a can of cat food. It has a distinct, unique flavour.

When all is sizzling a la perfection, as we say, I carefully put the meat on a paper towel, and fry two large slices of golden-brown bread in the drippings. I top these with tomatoes and melting cheese. By this time my stomach can scarcely stand the aromas mingling.

Then I put the whole works into the cat's dish, open the refrigerator, take out a frozen chicken pie, heat it, and eat it, garnished with a sprig of cabbage. The cat and I are both happy.

By this time, it's 11.30 p.m., so I watch a late movie or two, with no one saying, "Isn't it time for bed?" I climb into bed at 3.30, read for an hour, and sleep until 7 a.m.

Every time my wife comes home and I've been batching it, she is appalled by my appearance. "Your eyes look like two burned holes in a blanket." They do, but I've enjoyed every burn.

Then the inevitable question: "Did you miss me?" Hah! Miss her my foot. I didn't miss her any more than I would my teeth, or my right arm.

Baby bonus and taxes

Although this year, for the first time in 28 years, Government family allowance payments became taxable, from a tax point of view all Canadian families with children under 18 should be better off than they were before.

Next year, when the time comes to file 1974 income tax returns, the parent who is claiming children as dependants must deduct the amount of taxable family allowance payments from his or her claim for personal exemptions.

Since a child may be claimed as a dependant for income tax purposes by either his mother or father, information slips will be issued by Health and Welfare Canada to the recipient of the family allowance. (A similar information slip will be issued by the Province of Quebec for the family allowance payments it is making for a child who has reached the age of 16.) The slips will show the total family benefits paid in the year which must be included as income. The slip, call a TFA1 Supplementary, should be enclosed with the income tax return of the person or persons required to report the income or part of the income.

If the father claims the child as a dependant, he must include in his income allowances paid on behalf of the child although these allowances have been paid directly to his wife.

When more than one taxpayer has claimed a portion of the total personal exemption allowed for a child, the Income Tax Act requires each taxpayer to include in computing his income a portion of the allowances paid for that child. (This could happen, for instance, when parents separate during the year, in the case of death of one parent, or where the husband and wife file separate returns.)

There is a formula for working this out. Instructions may be obtained from the local District Taxation Office.

The family allowance legislation gives the provinces the right to vary the size of the allowances on the basis of a child's age or the number of children in a family, or both.

Seven of the 10 provinces have opted to pay a flat $20 per child each month; the remaining three have established separate plans. Eligible families in Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Ontario, Manitoba, British Columbia and Saskatchewan receive the flat rate. Prince Edward Island and Quebec have geared their programs to family size, and Alberta's is based on the age of the children involved.

Certain persons who are not actual residents of Canada throughout a particular year, but nevertheless subject to Canadian income tax, are entitled to receive family allowance payments. Included in this category could be students, teachers, employees of Canadian firms, members of the diplomatic corps and Armed Forces.

Immigrants and emigrants are subject to tax on their world income while in Canada in the year they immigrated to or emigrated from Canada. Children of landed immigrants are eligible for family allowance payments as soon as the family arrives in Canada.

Treaty Indians are not exempt from paying tax on family allowances.

Children who come under the care of a government agency or of a private institution will be paid a special non-taxable allowance of $20, to be paid to the agency or institution. The special allowance will also be paid to foster parents of government-placed children. Another feature of the new allowances Bill is that increases, to compensate for changes in the cost of living, can be made by an Order-in-Council subject to House approval.

Income from invested family allowances

Effective from the beginning of 1974, when a family allowance is deposited in a bank account in the name of a child, or in trust, or otherwise invested in the child's name and the investment can be readily identified as the property of the child, any income earned from it is considered income of the child.

When the allowance is deposited in a parent's personal bank account or in a joint bank account of the parents, any interest income resulting will be included in the income of the parent or parents. An exception to this rule is if the parents can subsequently establish that the source of the funds on which the interest was earned is solely the family allowance payments and it is clearly intended to use the funds for the benefit of the child or children in the future in which case the interest is income of the child.

Because family allowance payments are considered income, unless you want to pay more at the end of the taxation year than your employer has deducted from your regular pay cheques, you should ask him to let you fill out a Form TD1. This way he'll deduct more to account for the increase in income and that way you'll be in a better humor when it comes to filing your tax return.

Your week ahead.....

By Dr. A. W. Damios

Forecast Period: December 8 to December 14

ARIES
Mar. 21 - Apr. 19
You might be in the mood to recruit allies for a project that has bogged down. Take care! A new face, on the scene, could create problems.

TAURUS
Apr. 20 - May 20
There's a few anxious moments forecast for this week's comic cycle. Indirectly, a younger person's friends or associates will be the source of your being concerned.

GEMINI
May 21 - June 20
It's a fact of life, many members of your sign will be trapped in the "eternal triangle." So, if you've been in bounds — stay there!

MOONCHILD
June 21 - July 21
A major decision awaits you, this week. Whatever you do, don't be entrapped in the "worry circle." Do what has to be done, quickly... the clock ticks against you!

LEO
July 22 - Aug. 22
Proceed with caution at a gathering or informal party. An incident with a member of the opposite sex — could trigger a chain of unfavorable events.

VIRGO
Aug. 23 - Sept. 22
Your chart shows a bad case of self pity and an overworked imagination. You'll feel tied down and restricted, for one reason or another.

LIBRA
Sept. 23 - Oct. 23
There's no question about it, according to your chart, someone will toss an overture your way. Play it cool — it won't be a last chance situation.

SCORPIO
Oct. 24 - Nov. 21
Neglect and forgetfulness might cost you the loss of a personal article. It might be a good idea to keep your valuables under lock and key.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22 - Dec. 21
A member of the opposite sex's good grooming, poise and mannerisms, will indeed, impress you. The point? Don't take whatever friendship that might develop — too seriously.

CAPRICORN
Dec. 22 - Jan. 19
This week, it's a situation of, "If I only knew then, what I know now." You and an associate hold fundamental differences in "how" to approach a problem.

AQUARIUS
Jan. 20 - Feb. 18
Good judgment won't be one of your strong points. Take care in putting together a formula to please the opposite sex. Tender love and care works — sometimes!

PISCES
Feb. 19 - Mar. 20
You'll tamper with the two ingredients that make up a sour batch of unreality... nostalgia and the thought of the grass being greener, elsewhere.

stickers are green!

TORONTO -- Starting December 2nd, owners of passenger cars and trailers will be able to obtain their 1975 renewal stickers at any of the 296 licence issuing offices throughout the Province, the Ministry of Transportation and Communications announced today.

This year the validation stickers for passenger cars will be green in colour and those for trailers will be black. Fees are the same as for 1974: $23 for a 4-cylinder vehicle; $32 for 6-cylinders; $40 for an 8-cylinder car and $5 for trailers.

This is the second year of the multi-year permit and sticker renewal system.

With a view to speeding up service in the licence issuing offices, simplified renewal application forms containing an insurance declaration have been distributed ahead of time to all provincial L.C.B.O. retail outlets as well as all licence issuing offices. This is to encourage motorists to fill the forms out before going to the licence bureau.

Applicants need just present the licence issuer the completed form, together with their multi-year permit and fee. The validated permit will be returned together with a validation device that the applicant will be instructed to attach to the rear plate of his vehicle on top of last year's sticker.

Deadline for having the new sticker on passenger vehicle licence plates is February 28, 1975; for trailer plates March 31, 1975.

Nobody beats Cherney's on selection of brand name stereo & TV
Nobody beats us on price and satisfaction.

We guarantee it—in writing!

What should you expect from a store that wants to sell you a new color TV, stereo components, or an entire stereo system?

At Cherney's our answer is: wide selection... tried and true brand names (backed by service warranties that mean something), knowledgeable sales people, and everyday low prices that are the lowest in the area.

"All very well", you say, "but how do I know Cherney's are going to give me the best deal?"

"Simple" we say. "We guarantee it in writing".

Our written guarantee says: "If within 10 days of your purchase at Cherney's you can buy the exact same item with similar services elsewhere at a lower price, we refund you the difference on the purchase price, plus 10% of that difference".

And we don't stop there.

We also guarantee in writing that you must be satisfied with the merchandise you buy. In other words, we aren't going to be happy until you are.

We care a lot about our customers for selfish reasons.

We know if you're happy with a TV or stereo you bought here, you're just apt to come back for a living room or dining room suite, an odd chair, coffee table or some other item we have in the store.

We've been building our business that way for 40 years.

You don't mess around with success.

ONE FOOT IN THE FURROW

Why do farmers get short end?

By BOB TROTTER

Perhaps it's because they work with manure and are not afraid to get it on their boots.

Maybe the general public simply associates farming with manure and nothing else.

Is that the reason the farmer always seems to get the end of the stick with the manure on it?

Marketing boards are being blasted by the consumers association. J.D. Forbes, author of that scandalous report on marketing boards, added fuel to the flames when he said price increases at the farm gate will not solve the farm income problem. He suggested that, in order to raise farm wages to a comparable level with those in other sectors of the economy, there must be fewer farms.

He said marketing boards were a ripoff because no consumer representatives were on those boards. Now, I ask you, do labor unions have industrialists on their executives? Does the teachers federation in your county have a non-affiliated taxpayer on its executive? Does the civil service association have a government minister on its bargaining committee?

If marketing boards were such a ripoff, why would so many farmers be going broke? Why would the average age of the Canadian farmer be 52? Why would young people be leaving the farm in droves?

That man Forbes should have been muzzled before he started his stupid survey. He was known as being against marketing boards before he was appointed. He was the judge and jury and convicted the farmer before the case ever went to court.

It is this irresponsibility that is beginning to gall all farmers in this province.

Another case in point is the vandalism that took place at International Harvester a few weeks ago. Badly needed parts can't be shipped out from the strikebound plant because some members of the union ripped out a spur line. Farmers were hard-pressed this fall with early and heavy frosts. They couldn't get corn harvested. That which was harvested has a high moisture content.

Hundreds of farmers were set further back because they couldn't get spare parts. Now, when the shortage causes higher prices, who will get blamed? Not the irresponsible union members, I'll wager. The poor old farmer will again get it in the ear.

The same story is true of the elderly couple who live a mile north of Renfrew. They have had their property — 94 acres, house and barn — taken away from them for a Highway 417 bypass.

"Don't waste your money on lawyers," they were told. "The road's going through and that's going to be it."

They fought and it cost them $4,000 in legal fees through three court actions.

I suspect that most country people are getting tired of losing. They are getting tired of the increasing lawlessness which allows strikers to blatantly destroy property, tired of fire departments going on strike and allowing a small fire to destroy an entire block.

And they are getting tired of teachers who are not supposed to strike doing exactly that.

Recently, the Supreme Court of Canada awarded a trespassing snowmobiler $30,000 when he injured himself on mining property. The ruling had great implications for farmers. Fence lines have been cut, winter wheat trampled and livestock injured by unthinking city people seeking recreation in rural areas.

It was heart-warming to see the provincial government take immediate action after the Supreme Court ruling. Ontario Resources Minister Allan Grossman announced amendments to the Motorized Snow Vehicles Act which will protect farmers from prosecution by trespassing snowmobilers.

If the province hadn't acted quickly, the harassed farmers would have had a spate of claims coming at them this winter.

It's difficult enough trying to make a living as a farmer these days without fighting meatheads from the cities who don't know enough to get permission to drive over private property.

You can bring the tropical look of the jungle into your own home

Bring the dark tropical look of the jungle into your own home, in a green glass terrarium.

"Terrariums of other tints, planted with bark, figurines, and small plants, will make a completely enclosed garden with your own choice of theme," says D. M. Sangster, an Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist.

"Place charcoal or stones in the bottom of your terrarium to be sure of good drainage," he advises. For the growing medium, use either a good soil mix or a soilless mix. Suitable plants for terrariums include Dracaena, Ferns, Begonia, Philodendron, Croton, and other low light intensity plants.

For more information on terrarium gardening, visit your local hobby supplies store, nursery, or garden center.

AS WE SEE IT...

Let's all vote for Madoc!

Residents of the Village of Madoc have the opportunity to stand up and be counted Monday.

Our citizens showed a very lax attitude towards the municipal nominations last month, and when nominations closed, only four men had been nominated to run for the five council seats at stake in the nominations.

We thought it was a very apathetic situation, and said so - Madoc residents, we contended, "should hang our heads in shame."

What happened next was very encouraging.

Four residents decided it was indeed time residents of the village get concerned, and were nominated, and qualified, to run for the one remaining seat on council.

Each has waged a campaign; and each presents their side of the picture in separate advertisements in today's Madoc Review.

The rest is up to you.

The election takes place Monday, and the polls are open between 11 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Will you join the candidates in showing the rest of the county that Madoc does indeed care about its council; does indeed care about its people; and does indeed care about its future?

Or will you stay home - apathetic - and not giving a darn about our village and its rightful place as the "Heart of Hastings County!"

Junior girls finish all even

The Junior Girl's Basketball Team has rounded out an enjoyable season with five wins and five losses in the league games.
The members' strong efforts during the season enabled them to earn the right to participate in the Bay of Quinte Championships. At the championships the girls faced stiff competition and lost out to Brighton High School by just five baskets.

Although the girls failed to be victorious at the tournament, they should be commended for their excellent play, enthusiasm and good sportsmanship displayed at the tournament and throughout the season.
Mrs. Mabro deserves recognition for contributing her time and effort towards making this year's basketball season a success.

Boys teams open with triple pin

On Dec. 5 our Midget, Junior, and Senior Boy's Basketball Teams travelled to Picton Collegiate to do battle against the representatives of Prince Edward County.
The Midget Boy's Team coached by Mr.
Dave Sellers started the season off on a winning note by downing Picton 49-35.
Likewise, the Junior Team coached by Mr.

Ron Hotchkiss defeated the Picton Juniors
by a close score of 54-49. Coached by Mr.
Peter Mewett, the Senior Centurions edged their competition from PCIVS by a score of 47-41. The school is very proud of this triple victory and hopes to hear of more triumphs in the future.

Mrs. Alma Blackburn, Mrs. Stanley Sandford and Mrs. Alma Moorcroft are the co-authors of "Pilgrimage of Faith", a history of the churches of Madoc Township. The book will be published in January by Madoc Review Ltd. of Madoc.

Three years of research is coming to an end

Three years of research and study are coming to an end for three Madoc Township women.

That's how long Miss Alma Moorcroft, Mrs. Stanley Sandford and Mrs. Alma Blackburn had devoted to writing "Pilgrimage of Faith", a history of the churches of Madoc Township.

The project first began three years ago when a committee of eight was formed by an Eldorado church to collect information of the early churches of the area.

Later, a grant of $5,335 was given to the group by the New Horizons program of the federal government to cover expenses and the cost of printing the book. The New Horizons program provides cash grants for projects undertaken by retired people who put their knowledge and experience for the good of the community.

Mrs. Blackburn, Mrs. Sandford and Miss Moorcroft became the working group of the committee, dividing the work of the book into three sections.

The women co-operated with the Senior Citizens' group in Madoc several times, finding many of them very interested and willing to contribute to the project.

The co-authors of the book spent hours poring over back copies of the North Hastings Review, tracing the history of many churches that have disappeared today.

Another source of information were old church minute books found in people's attics and church records. The United Church archives in Toronto also supplied valuable information about the conditions of life and the lives of the early "circuit rider" pastors.

Old photographs of church social events have been donated from family attics and albums. One of the oldest photographs is an 1890 picture of Cedar School House, one of the early school houses used as a church.

The history of 13 denominations, many of them no longer in existence, is documented in the book.

The length of the book will be approximately 350 pages, with numerous pictures.

The authors have decided on a first printing of 2,500 books, since many personal requests for copies have been received. A decision on how to market the book has not yet been made, but copies will be available at the Madoc Review Ltd. which is publishing the book.

Any profits that are received from the sale of the book will be re-channelled into the Senior Citizens group in Madoc through the New Horizons program.

The book is presently in the final stages of preparation with publication slated for early January.

Anyone wishing to purchase gift copies for Christmas presents may pick up gift certificates at the Madoc Review office in Madoc.

Carol Clark was elected as the president of the Madoc Minor Hockey Auxiliary as the organization held its election of officers in Madoc Public School last week.

Other officers elected include: vice-president, Rosanne Chapman; secretary, Sandra Huffman and treasurer Edna Douglas.

The evening will consist of a chance on a $1,000 main prize plus additional prizes during the evening. There will be a buffet supper, games and dancing until 1 a.m.

There will be a limited number of tickets sold and anyone wishing a chance on the $1,000 and admission into the dance will have to purchase their tickets in advance.

To The Electors of Madoc Village

Having been a Madoc man all my life, I've seen the progress and the failures of my town for many years. Although water and sewer to the entire village immediately is not financially possible, I believe that progress along these lines can be made without overburdening the ratepayers of this village. I belong to no political party and, if elected, I will be a yes-man to no one on council or individual. I promise to work for the good of the town on all projects I deem to be to your benefit.

Madoc Township School captures overall championship

Madoc Township elementary school captured the girls' champion trophy and the overall champion trophy Thursday at the Hastings County Basketball Skills Tournament, trouncing Stirling 194 to 139 in overall standings.

Winning the county championship over Stirling was an especially sweet victory for Madoc Township students since they had previously been eliminated from county competition by a one point loss to Stirling in Central Hastings semi-finals.

After losing the semi-final, Madoc Township school was surprised to receive a special invitation to participate in the county final. The invitation was extended after a team from North Hastings could not compete in the event.

Six schools participated in the county final which was held at Centre Hastings Secondary School. Represented were Frankford, Bayview, Stirling, Sir John A. MacDonald, North Trenton, and Madoc Township. Between 175 and 200 children in grades 4, 5 and 6 enthusiastically competed in a variety of skill-building exercises.

The purpose of the tournament was to increase basketball skills and interest in basketball among students in grades 4, 5 and 6.

"We felt students in these grades were not skilled enough in the basic skills to be able to play basketball," says Mr. Donato, a teacher at Centre Hastings Secondary School and organizer of the event.

The students participated in nine events; agility dribble, speed dribble, basketball pass, shuttle relay, speed relay, agility relay, team setshot, dribble shoot relay, and foul shooting.

Ribbons were presented to the top three winners in each individual event.

At the end of the day points were tallied for girls' teams, boys' teams, and mixed teams.

Stirling emerged the winner in the boys' category, winning by 99 points. In second place was Madoc Township with 70 points, followed by Sir John A. MacDonald with 39 points. Frankford received 30 points, Bayview, 23 points, and North Trenton was last with 6 points.

Madoc Township was presented with the trophy in the girls' category, winning over Sir John A. MacDonald with 124 points. Sir John A. MacDonald received 64 points, Stirling, 40, Bayview, 28, Frankford, 26, and North Trenton, 6.

The thirty-one member team from Madoc Township elementary school, coached by Mrs. B. Donaldson and Mrs. J. Bruce, captured the overall championship trophy which will be presented at a later date. The scores in this category were Madoc Township, 194, Stirling, 139, Sir John A. MacDonald, 103, Frankford, 56, Bayview, 56, and North Trenton, 12.

It was close, but Madoc goes down to another defeat

Madoc Merchant supporters saw their team lost by one goal to the Tamworth Braves Thursday as the locals went down to defeat 2-1.

Tamworth scored their two goals in the first period, while Madoc goalie Arnie Watkins held the visitors scoreless for the remainder of the game.

Madoc's only goal came while the team was one man short with Lenny Powers putting one in the net at the 11:52 mark of the second period, assisted by John Grant and Bill Hartwick.

Thursday night was also the first chance for Madoc fans to see two new players in action, John Grant and Lenny Powers, with both giving a fine performance during the evening.

Penalties in the game were few; all were minors with Madoc receiving three and the Tamworth team taking four.

The previous night, the Madoc team had also lost by one goal, this time to a team from Picton. The final score was 5-4.

As a result of last week's performances, it looks as though the Merchants are on their way out of their early season slump. Their fans will have a chance to see them in action again, this Thursday night, Dec. 12 at the Madoc arena as they host Campbellford, game time 8:15 p.m.

BURNSIDE, Returning Officer

WANTS TO BE ADOPTED

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

Greg is full of questions about adoption because this 10-year-old hopes very much it will happen for him.

Irish and English in descent, Greg has brown hair, blue-grey eyes and a sprinkling of freckles. He has always been physically healthy but an unsettled period in his life caused some emotional problems. These are behind him now, except that he tends to be tense and easily distracted in school. Greg is in a special Grade Four class. He has the ability to manage in a regular classroom but needs individual encouragement and firm controls.

Greg likes swimming, skating and wrestling but is not keen on team sports. He wants to learn to play the guitar.

A friendly, trusting boy, Greg gets on well with both adults and children. It will be good if he can be the youngest in a family with older brothers and/or sisters.

To inquire about adopting Greg, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. For general adoption information, consult your local Children's Aid Society.

Enlarge prospects for new capital

Ontario Treasurer John White said a 12-day mission to the Arab countries has enlarged prospects for the province in the search for new capital.

On his first appearance in the Legislature after the trip, White was asked by Stephen Lewis, leader of the New Democratic Party, to explain what was accomplished in talks with the Arabs.

"We learned how the financial markets work in the area of petrodollars and which financial institutions can be utilized in capital transactions in that area," White said.

Discussions in London, Kuwait, Dubai, Saudi Arabia and other centres also centred on the exchange of Ontario technology in return for capital investments by the oil-rich countries.

Fatal accident June 30, Toronto man fined $300

A Toronto man involved in a single-car accident June 30 in which one man died, was fined $300 Friday after being convicted on a charge of careless driving.

Giancarlo Cesaroni, 43 Lawnside Dr. was the driver of a 1973 Corvette that failed to negotiate a turn on County Road 50, left the road and came to rest in a field.

A passenger in the car, Eric Dunkley, Healey Falls, was later pronounced dead on arrival at hospital.

Constable William Bruins, the investigating officer from the Campbellford detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police, testified that, on his arrival at the scene of the accident, he had found one person lying in a ditch, 77 feet from the vehicle.

He said that, at the time of the accident, no one had identified themselves as the driver of the car.

In tracing the path of the vehicle, Constable Bruins said it had been south bound on the road, failed to make the right-hand turn, left the pavement and plunged four to five feet down into a farmer's field.

He said the car had bounced three times before rolling over several times. In answer to a question from the defence attorney, he said he felt excessive speed had been a cause of the accident.

Provincial Corporal Joseph Bird also attended the scene of the accident and testified he had later received a telephone call from a man identifying himself as Giancarlo Cesaroni.

Cesaroni, he said, had stated he couldn't remember anything about the accident itself, but did know that he had been driving the car earlier in the evening.

In his closing argument, the defence attorney claimed there was no way of proving that the man on the phone was, in fact, Cesaroni, and asked the charge be dismissed for lack of evidence.

Judge A. Wills, substituting for Judge Runciman disagreed with the argument. His statement was echoed by Crown Attorney Bonneycastle who stated that, when a man identifies himself to police by phone, it is "reasonable" to conclude that it is, in fact, that man.

Judge Wills found Cesaroni guilty of the charge and imposed the $300 fine.

Hints

When you've finished painting that garage, or whatever, and have leftover paint, dab some of it on the outside of the can at the level of paint inside. This not only lets you know the color, but how much paint is left. All without having to reopen the can.

For a really different Christmas tree decoration, try rounding up all the old keys around the house no longer in use. Spray paint them whatever color you fancy, though gold seems to be a favorite. Then you can string them and drape them around the tree, or hang them from branches individually.

If your shoulder bag is a blessing in that it leaves your hands free, but is a headache because it's always slipping from your shoulder, here's a way to stop that slippage. Sew a four-inch strip of non-skid tape — the type used inside skirt and blouse bands to prevent twisting — on the underside of the shoulder bag strap.

TURN ON'S

Tips

Working with plywood can be a problem, especially when cutting it.

You want to protect the good side of the plywood. To do this, remember that the point of each saw tooth must enter the wood on the surface that will be exposed, the surface you want to leave in good condition.

Using a hand saw or a table saw, keep the good side up. Using a portable power saw, keep the good face down.

If you lay out a pattern on the plywood, keep this in mind when you do it and trace the pattern on the proper side, depending on what kind of a saw you are going to use.

Road Killed and Consecrated Game is put to a variety of uses

By Wayne Mutton

The deaths of scores of birds, reptiles and animals killed by poachers, overly-ambitious hunters, traffic and other mishaps every year may not be entirely in vain.

Conservation officers with the ministry of natural resources in eastern Ontario have been finding uses for the carcasses that range from historical research to, in the case of freshly-killed deer and moose, providing elderly citizens with a dinner of prime venison.

Near Ottawa, a mallard duck that has been seized today could very well be a clue to the location and eating habits of an Indian village that flourished two hundred years, ago.

Conservation officers have turned over approximately 125 carcasses in the past year to Ann Rick, head of the Zooarchaeology Research Centre, one of the sections of the National Museum of Natural Sciences.

At the centre, a converted warehouse beside the capital's busy Queensway, butchered carcasses are placed in a steel vault where a resident colony of Dermestid beetles strip the bones of all meat.

The bones are then given a final cleaning, numbered, sprayed with a light coating of clear plastic and stored in cabinets. They become the "reference library" used to identify the thousands of pieces of other bone fragments sent in from archaeological digs all over Canada.

Those fragments are important evidence. Recently, bones identified at the centre as belonging to a willow ptarmigan helped pinpoint the location of a fur trade post that was active near Lake Athabasca in the 1800's.

Tiny bone fragments that are extremely difficult to identify can usually be traced down by careful comparison with skeletons in the Ottawa collection.

Further analysis may also reveal the animal was butchered, the bone was used as an implement, or that a particular disease was active at the time. Skeletons of migratory wildlife may also determine the season certain events took place — an invaluable part of any archaeological jig-saw puzzle.

At the moment Ottawa area conservation officers are saving the carcasses of a bittern, bluejay, pileated woodpecker, gallinule, hairy woodpecker, mallard, blue-winged teal, two wood ducks, a hooded merganser and a saw-whet owl for the research centre. Several carcasses being kept as evidence will be turned over following court proceedings.

Besides the national museum, many carcasses are taken to the veterinary lab at the Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology for autopsy. The examinations provide a regular, up-to-date check on any diseases or parasites affecting local wildlife.

Conservation officers in eastern Ontario have also turned over deer and moose carcasses to a local rehabilitation centre for alcoholics, local hospitals and a number of homes for senior citizens.

The animals, victims of poachers or traffic, are donated only if the meat is in excellent condition. The meat is further checked by dietitians on staff at the institutions.

And the venison is appreciated. In October, residents at the Carleton lodge were so delighted to receive venison from a road-killed buck they cleaned up the steaks and roasts before the director, who made the mistake of arriving late that day, could sit down to dinner.

Several years before this, a conservation officer delivering venison to a senior citizens' home was told by an elderly resident "this is wonderful. I haven't tasted venison for fifty years, not since my poaching days."

League urges care

The Christmas count-down has begun and shoppers are out in full force. The Ontario Safety League warns motorists to watch for pedestrians caught half way across the street. A vehicle coming from the opposite direction may frighten them into stepping back to avoid that vehicle and stepping right into your path. Watch for vehicles that might trigger such a reaction and be ready to brake safely.

Motorists are reminded that approaches to icy intersections may be packed and polished. Slow down so you won't slide into cross traffic.

When you're driving and you hit an unexpected patch of ice, don't try to brake, accelerate or steer. Maintain speed and let your vehicle "roll" through the slippery area.

The first week in December has been declared nationally as Safe Driving Week. Drive like you'd like everyone else to drive....all year around.

Make sure your family isn't one of those left homeless because of a Christmas tree fire this year.

"Your tree will probably be cut at least a month before you buy it," says Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist, J.K. Hughes. "It will dry even before you set it up. So, don't let your children persuade you to bring it in early and leave it in late. The longer you keep it inside, the more dried out it will get and the more of a fire hazard it will become."

Regular watering will keep the tree fragrant and green and will help prevent it from drying out quickly. Check its water supply every day, especially during the first few days in the house.

If your tree is frozen when you bring it in, let it thaw at least half an hour before decorating it. This will prevent needles from falling as quickly.

Never decorate a Christmas tree with real candles. Check electric lights for short circuits before hanging them on the tree and keep trimmings that might ignite easily away from them. Keep the lights on for only short periods, and be sure to switch them off whenever you are leaving the house.

Try to ensure energy supplies

Ontario will establish the Ontario Energy Corporation to ensure adequate and secure supplies of energy in the province, said Energy Minister Darcy McKeough.

"Its primary objective will be the assurance of energy for Ontario users, rather than profit," McKeough told the Legislature in introducing the legislation.

The corporation will try to make more energy available in Ontario by stimulating resource exploration and development and to encourage investment in energy projects.

Other goals include encouraging development of processes and equipment of processes and equipment that avert wasteful use of energy and minimize environmental damage and improving the security of energy supply to Ontario through acquisition, participation guarantee and long-term commitment of resources.

A school bus driven by William Ketcheson, 59 Centre St., Campbellford, escaped damage last Monday after it collided with a car on Highway 30.

The second vehicle, driven by Earl T. Godfrey of Trent River, received an estimated $75 damage.

The accident occurred when the bus attempted to pass the Godfrey car as it turned off the highway.

Many problems in coming year for govt.

by J. Hugh Faulkner

In the coming year and beyond there will be many problems that the federal government must face. In this, my first report to you, I would like to outline some of these broad problem areas which in subsequent reports will be discussed more fully and alongside with the legislative approaches under consideration by the federal government.

An increasingly important question will continue to be that of resource management, which involves at least two major issues. First, to what extent does the federal government have a right to the revenue from resource on behalf of all Canadians from resources that are claimed by the provinces? This relationship is being tested at present as a result of the Alberta government's strenuous reaction to the November 18 budget proposal to increase the taxation of oil and mining reserves.

The second issue concerning resource management relates to the proper amount of resource production we should export? This question relates not only to oil and gas, but to uranium which will be a major energy source in the 1980's and beyond.

Education will become another area of concern because of the expiration of the Fiscal Arrangement Act under which the federal government transfers hundreds of millions of dollars of aid for post-secondary education to the provinces. Education, of course, is recognized as a provincial responsibility, but there are some legitimate national aspects: equal opportunity - including student aid; cultural - especially bilingualism, and Canadian studies; - and advancement of knowledge, with a special concern for post-graduate studies.

In the early part of 1975, the federal government will release its long awaited Green Paper on Immigration. It is hoped that this paper not only will stimulate a wide debate among Canadians on the question of immigration, but on related and broader population problems, such as: how big should Canada become, and where would the people live?

Growing concern for the quality of Canadian life will also dominate policy discussions. Questions will be raised concerning job satisfaction and improved labor relations designed to humanize the work-place and provide workers with a greater voice in the decision-making that affects their work. There will be questions of land use: how much land should be devoted to park use, how much land should we allow for urban development and highway and utility corridors? At the same time we must recognize that these land uses encroach on the dwindling supply of land left for food production at a time when food shortages are menacing the world's population.

As Canada's population increases, and with it the increased pressures on a fixed supply of land, it is imperative that we establish our priorities for land use now, because once made, land use decisions are irreversible. Parking lots cannot easily be transformed into forests and streams.

These are some of the broad policy areas that will involve much federal government thought and action in the months ahead. There will be other issues as well, such as management of the economy, native land claims, and transportation policy.

When you read the recipes this week, just tell yourself, we have to splurge sometimes. Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without the traditions your family is accustomed to.

Home made fudge and chocolates are as necessary in our house as the tree or the turkey. Simply close your eyes and don't think about it when you buy the sugar. If necessary, you can serve casseroles all through January, if you fracture the food budget too drastically. This recipe for fudge is so good I almost hate to share it. It was given to me by Donna Shire, and it does contain flour. It is the creamiest meltingest fudge you can imagine. If you give anybody a box of this fudge this year, do give them the recipe too, or they will be asking for it. The chocolates are not really hard, but they do take time. The nuts and bolts recipe makes a huge big pan full and is certainly less expensive than buying them.

Donna's Fudge

4 tbsp butter
4 cups brown sugar
2½ tsp flour
2 tsp baking powder
1 cup evaporated milk

Combine all ingredients in a large pot and cook to the soft ball stage. Remove from heat and add 1 tsp vanilla. Beat until really thick, add 1 cup chopped peanuts and pour into buttered 9 inch pan.

Rub butter 1 inch down around the top of the cooking pot and your fudge will never boil over.

Chocolates

Beat until soft
½ cup butter
Add very slowly and cream until very light
1 lb icing sugar

Add
4 tbsp rich cream
1 scant tsp vanilla
Work this fondant well with the hands and shape it into small balls. Using about ¼ lb of icing sugar to roll it. Place on waxed paper and chill until hard. Dip the balls into slightly cooled chocolate coating. When the coating has hardened, store in a covered container in a cool place.

You may vary the flavor with maple, mint, or lemon, and drained dry maraschino cherries, nuts or fruit are also nice.

Chocolate Coating

Place in a pan over warm water
4 oz chocolate
2 tbsp butter
1 inch square wax

Stir these ingredients until they are melted, then add about five drops of vanilla. Remove from heat and dip centres. You may use butter chocolate or milk

Manpower place 384 during November

The Canada Manpower Centre in Peterborough was responsible for 384 regular placements during the month of November, as well as 69 casual placements.

The figure was up slightly from 375 in November of last year and 370 from November 1972.

The month's end saw 4,028 clients registered with the CMC as being unemployed and seeking work. This figure included 204 students looking for part-time work.

Mobility grants were given to nine unemployed clients to allow them to explore job opportunities in Stratford, Guelph, Toronto, Cobourg and Sarnia, and six family units were relocated with assistance under the Canada Manpower Mobility Program during the month.

The CMC put its new Job Information Centre into operation in November and interested citizens are invited to visit this new concept in delivering Manpower services.

chocolate. We like about equal parts of the two.

Nuts and Bolts

1 6 oz. bag pretzel sticks
1 lb peanuts

1 package Shreddies
1 package Cheerios
1½ cups butter or margarine
¼ cup worchestershire sauce
1 tbsp garlic salt
1 tbsp onion salt
1 tbsp celery salt

Break pretzels into one inch pieces. Mix all dry ingredients. Melt butter, add seasonings over dry mixture and bake, covered one hour at 225 degrees.

Remove the cover and bake for one hour more, stirring occasionally. Makes four quarts.

Area county Orange Lodge hears about True Blues

A banquet sponsored by Central Hastings County Loyal Orange Lodge was held recently in the Madoc Legion Hall with County Master Delbert Mumby master of ceremonies.

The invocation was given by the Rev. J. A. Thompson.

P.G.M. Fred Bateman introduced the guest speaker, Bert Wyman, of Edwards, who holds the office of Grand Master of Canada in the Loyal True Blue Association. Bro. Wyman delivered an inspiring address covering such subjects as the history and work of the Loyal True Blue Association.

He noted the group was responsible for the founding of the True Blue and Orange Home at Richmond Hill almost 100 years ago. This home, together with a similar one in Quebec, and a home for the elderly in Orillia, are maintained and operated by members of the Orange Association.

Following a standing ovation, Bro. Wyman was given an address of thanks by P.G.M. Lorene Hagerman, who presented the speaker with a gift of Hastings County

Tom Deline wins by 13

"Will do best I can"

"Just get feet wet during the first month"

Tom Deline, fresh from his victory in Monday's municipal election, today promised to fulfill his election pledge to the best of his ability.

"I'll do the best I can," he told the Madoc Review.

"The first month I'll just be getting my feet wet."

Mr. Deline, throughout his campaign, pledged an open door to the people of Madoc. He wants to hear everyone's side of things, so he can try his best to do what the people feel should be done in the village.

Mr. Deline defeated three other candidates in the four-way race for the one seat left vacant on council when original nominations closed in mid-November.

In the original round, four men received acclamations to the other four council seats when nobody was nominated to oppose them. They are Reeve Tom Barton, Deputy-Reeve elect Clayton Smith and Councillors elect James Watson and Ray Burris.

Nominated in the second round of nominations to contest the seat left vacant by the first round, were Joseph Ash, Gibson Bailey and Maurice Goulah, along with Mr. Deline.

$800 damage in two-car accident

A two car accident Saturday on the Black River Road, one mile north of Highway 7, has left an estimated $800 damage to the vehicles involved.

According to provincial police, two cars, driven by Jim Daniels, 112 Durham St., Madoc and Edgar Clark, RR 4, Trenton, collided as they were rounding a curve in the road.

Neither driver was injured in the mishap.

Someone else can worry now

The next time a fire alarm bell rings in the middle of a cold, January night, Lindsay Empey can stay in bed and let someone else go to the fire.

After many years of service to Madoc as a member of the volunteer fire department, Mr. Empey is retiring from his position of fire chief on Dec. 31.

In his 38 years as a fireman, he has seen many disasters and deaths. He estimates 17 people have died in fires during his years as fireman.

He says the job of fireman is not an easy one, especially when you have to pull the bodies of your friends from burning buildings. He has reached an age when he dreads having to get up in the middle of the night to answer an alarm.

Although he is giving up the post of fire chief, Mr. Empey will still be staying on in his post as village foreman.

Thomas Deline led from the start of vote counting in Monday's municipal election for one councillor seat on the village council.

Mr. Deline, along with other candidates, Joseph Ash, Gibson Bailey and Maurice Goulah, sat in the office of village clerk-treasurer, and returning officer, Tom Burnside to await the results.

They gathered, along with some other interested individuals, shortly after the polls closed at 8 p.m.

The first word they received was from the old town hall, where a couple of candidate representatives, Mrs. Warren Hill and Mrs. Lavern Carman, had been on hand.

They came into the clerk's office, and turned over an unofficial tally of the A and B polls that had been attending.

It gave Tom Deline 103 votes, Maurice Goulah 62, Gibson Bailey 54 and Joseph Ash 53.

A landslide in the making for Mr. Deline, perhaps?

While it may have appeared that way, nobody in the clerk's office thought it.

The town hall area was Mr. Deline's home poll, and he had figured he would do well there.

The other side of town was Mr. Ash's home territory, and he figured on doing well there.

He did - winning both polls at the Orange Hall. The combined vote there gave him 105 votes to Mr. Deline's 63, and cut Mr. Deline's lead over Mr. Ash to a mere 8 votes with the advance poll still to come.

Mr. Bailey took 49 votes at the Orange Hall, while Mr. Goulah came through with 43.

Moments later the advance poll came in - Mr. Bailey had won it with nine votes. But Mr. Deline came second with seven to wrap up his victory. Mr. Goulah polled three and Mr. Ash two.

The final tally - Deline 173, Ash 160, Bailey 112 and Goulah 108.

Mr. Goulah was the first to offer congratulations to Mr. Deline, and the other defeated candidates, and others in the room, were quick to follow up.

Mr. Deline thanked them all and said he would do his best.

Mr. Ash said he plans on running again two years from now. Mr. Bailey and Mr. Goulah said they would decide closer to the time.

All agreed, however, it was an interesting election.

"We sure stirred up a little interest," noted Mr. Ash. "It was a clean campaign."

"But the snow really hurt me," he explained. "I know of at least two dozen names who didn't get in."

Mr. Bailey said he "enjoyed it a lot."

"I got a kick out of shooting the bull with a lot of people; some of them I hadn't seen in years."

Reeve Tom Barton summed it up best, perhaps.

"Your a winner no matter which way it goes."

His reference was to the fact the winner will have a tough road ahead for the next two years, while the losers, as far as council activity goes at any rate, can sit back and relax.

In the kitchen / Try these Yule recipes with Kay Peacock

Christmas is the busiest time of the year in the kitchen.

Just when you think you are all done, you remember something else.

And then when it is all over, you have the problem of deciding what on earth to do with the turkey again.

This column is a request for your favorite recipe for left over turkey. I've had a lot of people asking me, and I'm sure there are a lot of really great ideas floating around out there.

After the Christmas issue of this newspaper, the next one will not be published until January 8th, and most of the turkey should be finished by then. But if you have an idea, give me a call, and we'll save it for next year. My number is 473-4470.

The following recipe for ice-cream is quick, and good, and you can't have too many desserts at this time of year. The cranberry candles is really quite attractive at a buffet dinner.

CHRISTMAS ICE CREAM

- 1 cup mincemeat
- 1 cup whole cranberry sauce
- 1/2 cup broken nuts
- 1 quart vanilla ice-cream

Combine mincemeat, cranberry sauce and nuts. Put ice-cream in chilled bowl, and cream with a wooden spoon until softened. Work quickly so it doesn't melt. Add fruit and nut mixture and stir just enough to give a marbled effect. Do not blend too thoroughly. Freeze. Leave out the cranberry and add rum or rum extract for another flavor.

CRANBERRY CANDLES

- 1 one lb can whole berry cranberry sauce
- 1 3 oz pkg orange jelly powder
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp lemon juice
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1 apple peel and diced
- 1/4 cup chopped walnuts

Heat cranberry sauce and strain, setting berries aside. Dissolve jelly powder in hot juice and boiling water. Add salt and lemon juice. Chill until thickened enough to mound when dropped from a spoon. Beat in mayonnaise with rotary beater until light and fluffy. Fold in cranberries, fruit and nuts. Divide into eight 6 oz. fruit juice cans. Chill at least four hours. Unmould and garnish. For flame, cut birthday candles in half, and insert in top of cranberry candles and light.

Snow storm results, rash of accidents

Monday's snowstorm resulted in a rash of accidents, the Madoc detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police reported, with no less than nine minor accidents being investigated.

Highway 7, two miles east of the Flinton Road was the scene when a car driven by Clayton Harold, Cloyne, skidded into a number of guideposts. Damage was set at $300.

Slayko Pavel, RR 5, Madoc, was the driver of a pickup truck that skidded off of County Road 8, entered the ditch and rolled over.

His cargo of two pigs, valued at $175 lost in the accident.

Damage to the truck was set at $2,800.

In a third accident that Monday, damage was estimated at $700 when a car driven by Gordon Wilson, Napanee left the road at the intersection of Highway 62 and the Gilmour Road and struck a sign post.

CONGRATULATES NEW COUNCILLOR

Reeve Tom Barton congratulates newly elected councillor Tom Deline following his victory in Madoc's municipal election Monday. The four-way contest for the one seat on council saw Mr. Deline receive 173 votes, Joseph Ash 160 votes, Gib Bailey 112 votes and Maurice Goulet 108 votes. A good turnout at the polls was recorded despite the fact one of the worst storms of the season was hitting the area, and the other four seats on council were filled by acclamation when only four people were nominated to contest the five seats on council. [Madoc Review Photo]

TAPE CHOIRS

Area school children to sing on radio

Technicians from CBJQ radio in Belleville were in Madoc Thursday to tape choirs from Madoc public school and Madoc township school, for the regular Christmas program "Our Children Sing". Over 200 children at Madoc public school in grades 6,7 and 8 sang three Christmas song selections for the program. Under the direction and piano accompaniment of Mr. Murphy, the principal of Madoc public school, the children sang "Go Tell It On The Mountain"; "Three Shepherds Came"; and "Mary's Little Boy Child".

At Madoc township school, children in grades 4,5 and 6 sang two songs, "Sweet Jesus In A Manger" and "Bring A Torch Jeanette Isabella" in French. Playing the piano for the choir was Mrs. Rowe of Tweed. Mr. Mowat, the school principal, stepped in at the last moment to conduct the 30 member choir this week, when the regular director, Mrs. Molyneux, was called out of town.

Barber shop officials opens

Frank's Barber Shop opened last Tuesday in the former Don Ash building on St. Lawrence St., across from the Madoc Review office. The building, which formerly housed a service station, has been vacant for the past two years. Considerable renovations have been made by the present owner, Ken Neilson, to accommodate three businesses in the building. The service bay has also been closed in to provide extra office space.

Frank Sjumigaz's Barber Shop occupies the centre section of the building. Present plans call for a used car parts company, United Auto Parts, to locate in the left section of the building. The tenant of the third section has not yet been announced.

Favorite Carol answers roll call

Mrs. M. Lees was hostess for the December meeting of the Queensboro branch of the Women's Institute, held in the WI hall Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Ken Cassidy was in charge of the meeting, which was opened with a Christmas carol, the Ode and the Mary Stewart Collect.

The roll call, "My Favorite Christmas Carol", was answered by 19 members and one visitor.

Plans were discussed on sending gifts to the sick and shut-ins of the community.

Mrs. Arthur Holmes was in charge of the Christmas program. There were several readings, "Legend of Open House" by Mrs. McMurray; "A Boy's Christmas Complaint" by Roberta Sager; a poem "I Found Out" by Mrs. Arthur Holmes and "A Gift for the King" by Mrs. Carl Gordon.

These were followed by a jumbled word contest taken from the poem "The Night Before Christmas."

There was a Christmas gift exchange and the meeting was closed with the Queen. Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants.

SURVEY SHOWS....

Almost half have no decay

Almost half the kindergarten to grade three students attending Madoc Public School have no decay in their teeth.

But 13 per cent have an urgent need to see a dentist, and a whopping 36 per cent have poor oral hygiene.

The figures have been released by Dr. Dennis A. Warrick, director of dental services, for the Hastings and Prince Edward Counties Health Unit.

He notes that the benefits of fluoridation of water are plainly evident in comparing the percentage of students who have "no decay" in Picton and Belleville, which have fluoridation, with that of Trenton, which does not have fluoridation.

Belleville Schools showed 60 per cent of 121 students examined with no decay and Picton Schools, 53 per cent of 256 students examined, with no decay.

The Trenton survey, on the other hand, showed only 44 per cent of 1,176 students examined had no decay.

Rural schools, also with students not having the advantage of fluoridation, showed 43 per cent of 915 students examined didn't have decay.

Other area schools broke down as follows: Coe Hill - 37 percent of 73 students examined had no decay. 27 per cent had a Coe Hill - 49 per cent had poor oral hygiene, 37 percent had no decay and 27 per cent had an urgent need for treatment.

Gilmour - Sixteen per cent had poor oral hygiene, 28 per cent had no decay and 32 per cent had an urgent need for dental treatment.

The overall picture is encouraging, however.

"Compare Northumberland County 1970-71, only 35 per cent of K-3 students had no decay," notes Dr. Warrick.

"However, the overall dental treatment needs are still over-whelming and massive, particularly in those students who are in urgent need of dental care. There are over 1,100 K-3 students in this category in the two counties!

"Also, as director of the school dental health program, it is my hope that in providing this information, that principals, teachers, parents and students may give renewed emphasis to good dental health habits as promoted in the program. It is also hoped that this may occur, with particular emphasis in those schools which show a dental health status lower than the average for their city or country."

REACH AGREEMENT

An agreement has been reached between the Central Ontario group of Tourist Councils, and the Ontario Ministry of Industry and Tourism, following more than one year of negotiations with the Ontario Government.

Under the agreement, individual tourist councils such as Highlands of Hastings will retain their identity and at the same time earn better promotional support from the government. In return, the Central Ontario group - namely Great Pine Ridge, Bay of Quinte, Haliburton Highlands, Highlands of Hastings, Lake Simcoe, Land O Lakes and Kawartha Lakes, will speed up their joint promotional activities. The councils will co-operate on administration.

President V. A. McMurray, Highlands of Hastings Tourist Council, emphasizes that this accelerated co-operation will help the whole region. For instance, he notes, more and better promotional material will be produced and distributed.

He stresses that, under the new tourism scheme, success of an individual area will now depend largely upon the amount of money raised by that local tourist council, through county and municipal grants and individual memberships. The government will tie its financial help to the amount raised in the regions. We wish to emphasize that money raised in a given region will be spent solely for the benefit of that region.

For the purpose of administration, the Central Ontario Travel Association will be divided into three zones: The Highlands of Hastings and Land O Lakes will be in the east zone, the Kawartha Lakes and Haliburton Highlands in the north zone and the Great Pine Ridge, Bay of Quinte and Lake Simcoe in the South Zone.

Locally, the Highlands of Hastings now receives some $5,480,000.00 annually from visitors. With increased local and government financing, this dollar income to area communities will continue to grow.

Further education or not - 3 criteria

By GARNET PIGDEN
Special Correspondent

It is that time of year again when students in their final high school year are considering the advantages or disadvantages of further education.

Many ask themselves "Why continue to go to school" or "Will I succeed if I do attempt to further my knowledge at a university or college?"

Many students look back over their 12 or 13 years of enforced education with no desire to continue the torture into three or four more years after high school.

Whether or not a student is "college material" will depend on three major things. The student planning to attend institutions of higher education should possess:

- a - a high degree of reading ability
- b - a specific intellectual interest in something and
- c - the maturity to learn by himself and direct himself.

For a person to possess a high degree of reading ability he must have the capacity or knack for learning quickly and effectively out of books.

This may not be the best way to obtain knowledge, but the existing method of learning in universities is almost exclusively bookish. Reading speed has an obvious direct bearing on success in college work. The more rapidly a reader reads, the more effectively he grasps and retains.

The possession of a full and accurate vocabulary is a definite asset. Many potential scholars flunk out of university within the first year because of their inability to express themselves. Perhaps our present educational system is neglecting the basic skills of reading, writing and vocal expression.

The student in university will find himself flanked with dictionaries, encyclopedias, gazettes, maps and other reference material. He will have to be able to collect precise information by knowing how to obtain this material.

The second criteria is the intellectual interest in something. There seems to be no good reason why any student would proceed to advanced studies at the college level unless there is at least one subject that he wishes to learn more about.

Understandably not everyone must specialize because there are a number of students with many intellectual interests who want to learn more about many things. These are excellent candidates for college. If no subject can be discovered that is of interest to the student, and if there are topics of interest but not taught in college, then that student should not attend.

The third criterion is indeed the most important for without it the potential scholar would not succeed at university even though he might possess the other two. It is MATURITY. The degree of self-mastery which enables him to manage his spending money, choose friends wisely, set his priorities (home work first - pleasure later) and he must respect the rights of others and work to maintain a high standard of excellence.

It should be noted that Mom or Dad won't be around to bail him out of trouble and he won't have a teacher prodding him into studying instead of going to the movies.

In university there is a great deal of free time and a large number of activities are offered that are very pleasing to human nature. It has been argued that during our high school years we are pampered too much thus being unable to adapt to the freedom experienced at colleges and universities. Maybe our public schools and high schools should be revised so that students aren't as dependent upon their teachers as they are now.

There are many fine places of education for some students, but for a considerable majority they are very bad places. They offer, to some, worthwhile opportunities for mental and moral development; and to others they offer virtually nothing and much worse, lead some into frustration and discouragement.

Today, skilled and adequate background in such basic courses as English and Math are required for entry into most post-secondary school institutions. Thus students who drop out of these courses, at the first opportunity, or sign of difficulty, may seriously jeopardize their educational future.

It has been stated that the true output of an education can be best judged by the quality of the human relationships which it fosters. At university or college which we, the graduates, may plan to attend, we hope to find the sort of educational climate which will enable us to develop our relationships and personalities to a higher degree.

As we see it....

The vote shows we care

Its little wonder residents of the Village of Madoc appear to be walking around town today with their chest stuck out a little bit farther than usual.

Residents showed they are indeed concerned about the future of their village in trooping to the polls in fine fashion Monday to elect one representative to their five-man council.

Residents could have found every excuse in the book to stay away - the weather was far from ideal, in fact it was downright rotten. And only one of the five council seats was at stake, and there was no major issue. (In fact, it would have been hard to even find a minor issue.)

But residents took the message of this newspaper to heart; they threw off their apathetic stance of the first round of nominations, and when round two came up, they saw to it four men were nominated to contest the remaining seat.

And they got behind the foursome, despite the elements, with 532 people casting countable ballots, and a handful of others casting ones that couldn't be counted.

[Some people voted for more than one candidate, which of course, spoiled their ballot].

All in all it was a good round of democracy in action.

Each of the candidates put forth a good effort in the campaign, and each had their own following.

Congratulations to Tom Deline on his victory. He said the people of Madoc needed a younger man on council, and his victory shows many thought him right. We wish him every success as he joins fellow councillors in strengthening our village's position as the "heart of Hastings County."

We also congratulate the three that lost. They gave it their best, and none has anything to be ashamed of. Mr. Goulah, who came last, was only 65 votes behind the winner and that represents a close race.

All three should try it again next time.

At least it is a start

The headlines speak of an imminent calamity. But for many, the tragedy already is all too real. "Anguish of the hungry is spreading across India," said the New York Times the other day. In London, speaking on the eve of the Rome Food Conference, professor George Allen of the University of Aberdeen warned of a food crisis that is threatening to engulf the poorest of the world's nations. India, Professor Allen believes, could be facing a famine on a scale of the 194 Bengal disaster when 2,500,000 died of starvation.

Amid all this gloom there was at least one ray of hope. It seems that U.S. policymakers have reached general agreement on the need to set up the world's first international grain stockpile. Initially, it will be in the range of 30 million to 60 million tons, and its prime aim would be to ensure stable prices, and to have enough food on hand to cope with emergency situations in needy lands.

The concept of a kind of World Food Bank has been debated for years, and has the support of many Canadians. For one thing, if taken seriously, it should take politics right out of food aid. The purpose of the stockpile is to feed the hungry, no matter who or where they are.

There will be many problems, not the least of which will be storage space. Some argue it will be difficult to store the grain in many of the poorer nations because they do not have the facilities. What is more, much grain is lost to pests and vermin, or simply rots, owing to inadequate storage.

Then one can ask whether even 60 million tons is enough for an emergency in a world of four billion people. Certainly a much larger food stockpile will be needed in due course. At least a beginning has been made.

Yes, mom, it was indeed - a trumpet!

Did you hear the sound of the trumpet down main street way? If you did, you weren't hearing things. It was a trumpet all right; and it was being played.

The musician was none other than Bert Jones, of the G.M. dealership, who was letting the whole wide world know that yes, indeed, Madoc is the heart of Hastings County.

Bert wasn't only pleased with the turnout; he must have been pleased with the result too.

The victorious councillor candidate, Thomas Deline, is among Bert's many employees.

Santa Claus came to Madoc on Saturday and made a lucky prize drawing for the world's largest Christmas stocking donated by Bert Jones Ltd., of Madoc. The lucky winner was Carolyn Bateman of Hampton, Ontario. Santa came to Madoc at the request of Madoc merchants who banded together to enable Santa to distribute bags of candy, apples and oranges to his many youthful admirers who jammed the four corners of the village to see their northern hero. [Madoc Review Photo by Nellie Cooper].

Ontario Government studying creation of tribunal

The Ontario Government is seriously studying creation of a special tribunal with sweeping powers to control strikes not in the public interest, according to Labor Minister John MacBeth.

"The idea is to remove these very important decisions from the political arena -- to gain decisions that cannot be charged with bias." The tribunal would be separate from the Ontario Labor Relations Board.

"I can't say much about it because it is still under study -- there could be many changes in the concept," said the labor minister.

The tribunal would be part of a complete revision of Ontario's Labor Relations Act. The association has threatened to go out on an illegal strike in January if their demands are not met by the government.

With the Ontario Civil Service Association running a $250,000 advertising and public relations campaign aimed at Premier Davis by the same Montreal firm that handles the NDP party's political campaigns, the provincial government has cause to be concerned.

One of the sticky questions needing consideration is the increasing frequency of illegal strikes -- sometimes by groups who don't even have the legal right to strike.

"I think Richard is handsome, intelligent and dreamy -- the trouble is he thinks so, too!"

AS YOU SEE IT...

Job getting harder

Every year, my job in Canada becomes a little bit harder, in spite of - or perhaps because of - our vast technological achievements.

You see, each year, I receive a large number of heartbreaking letters from young folk who say they could manage without Christmas presents if only I could send Daddy back. My research shows that Daddy was in a fatal traffic accident, and it is very hard for a little one to understand how it is Daddy can go off to work, fishing, shopping, etc., right as rain, but never come back.

Through the pages of your paper, may I ask for the help of all the drivers in your coverage area? We have just come through Safe Driving Week in Canada, and everybody has seen a barrage of safety messages. Please remember them, not only through the hustle and bustle of this holiday season, but all through 1975.

Then, I will be better able to concentrate on finding the kind of gifts that make up the more routine requests from our children. Let's have no more sad, desperate faces at Christmas time.

Wishing you and yours a very merry and safe Christmas!

Ho, Ho, Ho

"Very disappointed"

I am very disappointed to see the "Horoscope" appearing in the paper.

I do very much enjoy hearing of the news of the village and area, but it seems to be (by what I observe in the paper) you are very much open to the "Fullness of the Gospel" and I am sure if you will take time to see what our Heavenly Father wants, He will direct you whether to leave this in or take it out.

Thank you for allowing me the time to express my opinion.

Friday the 13th unlucky unlucky for Merchants

It was the eve of Friday the 13th for Madoc Merchants and Campbellford Flyers as they played Thursday night here in Madoc. Unfortunately the bad luck fell on our Merchants as they lost to Campbellford, 8-1.

Madoc took an early lead at the 1:45 mark of the first period when Gene Francis connected on a pass from Gord Donaldson. But that lead was short-lived as six minutes later Don Potts tied it up for Campbellford.

By the end of the first period, Campbellford had a commanding 5-1 lead as they got four more goals by Ed. Stapley, Lenny Newell, Craig Bennett and Pat Sheridan.

In the second period Campbellford added two more goals. Their marksmen were Pete Battman and Ed Stapley. Their sixth goal was scored while they were a man short. Midway through the third period Campbellford's Ed Stapley got his hat-trick as he scored their eighth and final goal.

The score could have been a lot more but both goalies made tremendous saves throughout the night.

A total of 13 minor penalties were handed out in the game—9 to Campbellford, 4 to Madoc.

This Thursday, December 19th, Madoc hosts their rival Tweed B.P. Oil Kings at 8:15 p.m. This should prove to be an exciting game as Madoc has a 1 and 1 record with Tweed. Don't miss it! Also on Saturday, Dec. 21st, Madoc is on the road playing Tamworth. Game time in Tamworth is 8:00 p.m.

Future games

Thurs. Jan. 2nd—Madoc in Brighton—8:30 p.m.
Sat. Jan. 4th—Madoc in Tweed—8:30 p.m.
Sun. Jan. 5th—Madoc hosts Brighton—8:15 p.m.

Madoc Public School team wins cage title

A team of boys from Madoc Public School has taken the championship of the Hastings County Basketball Tournament, held in Stirling December 7. The team defeated Trenton's Prince Charles school 20-13 to take the victory.

Just any soil isn't good enough

Just any potting soil is not good enough for your houseplants. They deserve the best - a soil full of nutrients, with good drainage, and free of weeds and disease organisms.

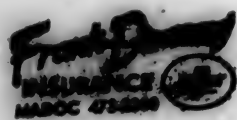

"A mix of one third coarse peat moss, one third soil and one third coarse sand or perlite is excellent for most houseplants," says Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist, J. H. Hughes. He recommends coarse materials to ensure good drainage. This reduces the danger of overwatering and allows plant roots to get air.

Kill weed seeds and disease organisms in newly prepared soil by spreading it on cookie sheets and baking it in the oven for 30 minutes at 180 degrees F. Add a slow-release fertilizer from your local plant supply centre to the potting soil.

Population control is a losing battle

Nothing can be as discouraging as to give long speeches on the need for population control to a conference whose delegates know that, for the time being at least, they are fighting a losing battle. Yet that is what occurred at the August World Population Congress held in Bucharest, Romania.

Some delegates implored. Others warned. Quite a number didn't turn up because inflation had eaten into travel budgets. And none who came had a meaningful solution to what is probably the most pressing problem in the world today.

Unless the people in poorer lands tend to follow the example of more affluent nations, where young people are beginning merely to replace themselves by having no more than two children in many cases, future generations face a grim prospect. The recent floods in Bangladesh, for instance, which covered almost half the country and which took thousands of lives, are a form of population control that was accepted by humanity for centuries. If the land had to support too many souls, vast numbers starved to death, or died of thirst, or were killed and drowned in storms and floods. Mankind, with its new technology, today can overcome the cruelties of nature on most occasions.

But will we conquer nature if we grow from today's figure of 4 billion to 8 billion by early next century? Will the massive international relief operations that were mounted in drought-stricken Ethiopia or flooded Bangladesh be enough? Will the hundreds of millions of unemployed wandering the world by the year 2,000 be content with degradation and deprivation? Clearly, one must answer NO to these questions. And therefore daily the need to search for meaningful solutions to the population puzzle becomes more urgent.

A perfect record

On Tuesday, December 10th several elementary men school teachers from various parts of Hastings County met at the new Stirling Senior School for an evening of volleyball, hosted by the Centre Hastings Branch of Ontario Public School Men Teacher's Federation. Schools entering teams were from Marmora, Tweed, Stirling, Bayside, North Hastings, and Madoc Township.

The Madoc Township Team, consisting of Chuck Mowat and Robert Taylor, bolstered by imports Carm Donato (C.H.S.S.), English (M.P.S.) and Dave Boyd (B.P.S.), finished the tournament without a loss, thus stopping the Tweed team from winning three years in a row. Al McNeil, 5th Assistant Captain of the Tweed team, chalked up their loss to the absence of their Wild Irish Rose, Brian Treanor. The Township team's victory earned them the right to an exhibition game against Carm Donato's composite volleyball team he is taking to the Ontario Games at Thunder Bay over the Christmas vacation. Carm assured the Township team they would score at least one point in a three game schedule. It is reported, though, that the Township team had to decline due to bruised wrists, sore shoulders and dented egos.

Aside from the cheating engaged in by Doug Phillips (he fielded a spike with his foot when the ref. wasn't looking), the poor sportsmanship displayed by Gerry Witherden (he went to the showers immediately after his team's elimination) and the offensive language used by Ken Gillies (he reportedly shouted "Heck" after being clobbered by Harvey Scott's sizzling spike), a delightful evening of exercise and socializing was had by all - ie. all who hadn't fainted from overexertion.

Marmora lady wins trip she won't take

'You're kidding!'

"You have just won a 14-day trip for two to Florida with Franklin and Doris Smith of Franklin Travelway Tours!"

"Who did?"

"You did!"

"You're kidding."

The first words were those of Don Mullan, publisher of this newspaper, informing Mrs. Doug Jones of Marmora she had just won first prize in the 1974 Win-A-Trip contest sponsored by Mullan Publications in co-operation with several area advertisers and six weekly newspapers.

Mrs. Jones just couldn't believe her luck. She was proclaimed winner around 7:10 p.m. Monday, after Marmora Reeve Jack Reynolds had visited the head office of Mullan Publications to make the lucky drawing.

He pulled out three consolation winners, and then all the consolation tickets were put back into the drawing, for the major first prize draw.

Mr. Reynolds dug deep, somewhere around the middle, and pulled out Mrs. Jones ticket.

She said she had about four entries in, and had obtained all of them at the Marmora I.G.A. store.

"My gosh, I just can't believe it," she continued.

Backing resolution

The council of the Townships of Elzevir and Grimsthorpe has joined with a number of other area councils in backing a resolution from the Township of Masch on the recycling of glass.

In other council business, the members passed a number of accounts as paid and approved one application from the land division committee. The members had no objection to part of the concession allowance being improved to allow easy access to the property in question.

Fractured elbow

An Ivanhoe woman was taken to Belleville General Hospital Friday suffering from a fractured elbow and heel after she was struck by a car in front of her home.

Marie Hogg was crossing Highway 62, near the CPR crossing at the Ivanhoe Station, when she was hit by a car driven by David C. Brady, 221 Elgin St., Belleville.

Brady later told police he had been attempting to pass a second car when the mishap occurred.

"We have already planned to go to Florida. We are leaving the Monday after New Year's with another couple. I am sorry we planned the trip now...but, it is sure nice to win."

Mrs. Jones has got in touch with Mr. and Mrs. Smith, and has arranged to take a different trip. She is going to go somewhere next summer, instead of to Florida this winter, and is tickled pink about it.

Consolation prizes this week went to Mrs. Eileen Taylor, 139 Durham St., Madoc, who will receive a $10 Olympic Lottery Ticket; Hilda DeClair, R. R. 2, Madoc (Queensboro) who receives an eight-track stereo tape and Doris M. Pigden, R. R. 2, Madoc, who receives a lucky chance on a drawing for a trip to Scotland being sponsored by Marmora and District Lions Club.

NOTICE

Regarding parking vehicles on Village streets during winter months.

In order to properly snow plow the streets it is necessary that no overnight parking be allowed on the streets. Offending vehicles will be towed away at the owners expense.

The co-operation of the public is requested at all times during storm periods to keep parked vehicles from interfering with the snow plows.

The Village forces are going to attempt to keep the sidewalks clean this winter. This too, will require the co-operation of the public and those doing custom snowplowing, to avoid pushing snow and slush on to the walks, where it would freeze and stop the snow blower.

Arrangements can be made by individuals or places of business at the Village office to have accumulated snow on private property removed by the Village forces, at the time when snow is being taken from the streets. Charges in this case will be based on cost.

All-out effort to topple Davis?

By DON FREDERICKS
Toronto Sun Syndicate

The Civil Service Association of Ontario says a "political alliance" of most sectors of the province's labor movement may be created in an all-out effort to topple the Davis government.

Jack Norman, CSAO general manager, disgruntled at what he called "window dressing" changes to the Crown Employees Collective Bargaining Act put forth by the government, said a political alliance of labor organizations worked in British Columbia to bring down the Bennett government.

"It's been done before and we can do the same in this province," he said.

"The response has been excellent." It's in the mill - certainly it's in the mill.

Meanwhile, the CSAO indicated for the first time that it is ready to reduce its demand for a 61.5 per cent increase - a demand the civil servants have stuck with since negotiations began with the government and the 20,000 or so of its members in the operational services.

The CSAO, which represents a total of about 60,000 civil servants, has threatened an illegal strike January 1 if it doesn't get a satisfactory wage settlement.

Norman said they decided to lower their wage demand because the government "finally showed good faith" when it offered a one-year contract (instead of two) with about a 20 per cent wage increase for most of those in operational services.

"It's a positive offer and it demonstrates that the government is willing to negotiate seriously," he said. "We must now react in a similar fashion. The time has come to move off the 61 per cent demand and come down to a much more realistic figure."

Norman said that in his opinion there will be no strike if the wage issue is settled even though the issue of changes in the bargaining act may be left outstanding.

"If we can settle the wage issue, we're accomplishing a colossal task because we would have averted a major strike in this province."

The labor alliance against Davis would most certainly proceed if the CSAO doesn't get the major concessions it wants in the bargaining act. The key change would be the free choice between voluntary arbitration and the legal right to strike. But Eric Winkler, the minister who deals with civil servants, said that the government has no intention to allow the CSAO that right.

Norman said a labor alliance in the political field would not back a particular political party but rather it would back any candidate who agrees that the civil servants should be entitled to the same bargaining rights as others in the labor movement.

Classes in housekeeping to aid tourist resorts

Classes in housekeeping and small motor repairs, etc., for prospective tourist industry employees, may be run by Loyalist College in co-operation with the Highlands of Hastings Tourist Council next year.

Ted Reid of Loyalist proposed the classes during the tourist region's monthly meeting held in Tweed.

It was received most favorably because members felt there is a great need for this kind of training.

The matter of developing a suitable location for winter and summer recreation and sports in Eastern Ontario in part of Hastings and Lennox and Addington Counties, similar to Timmins Maple Mountain development was discussed and will be taken up with the appropriate committee of the county council in January.

The Highlands of Hastings Tourist Region has been advised that they have qualified for the maximum government grant for tourism for the year 1973-74.

The personnel of the tourist information booth of the smallest jail in North America at Tweed, will be asked to inaugurate a service to tourist operators and those with camping facilities to help advertise their weekend vacancies. Doug Storey of Tweed was appointed to convene a committee to arrange advertising of winter sports and area winter carnivals etc.

A business transaction of considerable interest to the Gilmour area recently took place when the McMurray Store at Gilmour was purchased by Mr. J. H. Scott, of Waterdon. This business has been in the McMurray family since 1905 and has been owned and operated by Mr. V. A. McMurray since 1946. The store was originally built by Mr. Norman Green from whom Mr. W. A. McMurray purchased the business. Mr. J. H. Scott, who originally came from Kingston, spent the past thirty years in Waterdon. He is a brother of Dr. Russell Scott, of Belleville, who is well known throughout this area. Mr. V. A. McMurray will continue to reside at Gilmour.

Reeve James Sprackett, of Tudor & Cashel, recently elected Reeve by acclamation, will go back to County Council for his 29th term. In all Mr. Sprackett has been a council member for 45 years.

A ski tow is being erected 2 miles north of Bancroft on No. 62 highway. The tow will be open on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, weather permitting.

C.H.S.S. Highlights By Garnet Pigden

Twenty-five studnets can attend Winter Carnival

This year 25 senior students from Centre Hastings Secondary School will have the chance to spend four days at the Quebec Winter Carnival held in Quebec City.

The trip will take place from Sunday, Feb. 9 to Wednesday, Feb. 12. The supervisor accompanying the students will be Mr. D.J. Brazeau, the head of the Language Department.

The students are scheduled to see the Palais de Glace, the Chateau plus many of the historic sites in Quebec. The students will be staying in a small hotel within walking distance of the carnival itself. This trip is a tremendous opportunity for students to exercise their powers of expression in the French language and to see the intriguing city of Quebec. It is hoped that this will become an annual event.

Convincing score

The LAPE Safety Quiz competition was held at Bayside Secondary School December 12. Our team of Tony Fondgysa, Mark Thompson, Doug Spencer, Jan Graham and Roy Spannabauer defeated the team from Centennial by a convincing score in the first round. In the second round they defeated the team from Bayside in a very close contest.

The CHSS team will now go on to compete with Prince Edward Collegiate Institute for the Hastings Prince Edward District Championship. Prince Edward Collegiate has had an impressive record in past years in its knowledge of accident prevention and has usually won the championship for this area. However, this year we have produced a team that is capable of capturing the title and we wish them the best of luck as they take on PEI on January 15 at the Belleville Legion.

Language laboratory

The installation of the language laboratory is in the final stages of its completion and should be ready for use by January 6. The laboratory will provide better opportunities to the student for improved pronunciation, speed and comprehension. Many oral lessons will be available on tape for students who have missed work through illness or who require remedial work.

Mrs. Laura Smith, teacher of Latin and Grade 9 French, will be retiring December 31 after 15 years of service in Hastings County. Mrs. Smith has made great contributions to the Language Department and to the school. Best wishes are extended to Mrs. Smith in her retirement.

Mrs. J. Beer will replace Mrs. Smith with her duties beginning January 6. Another new teacher to the Language Department will be Mrs. Cox of Belleville. She will be replacing Mrs. M. McKeough who has been granted a six month leave of absence.

Edge Centennial

In inter-scholastic curling action last week the Centurion Boys Team edged the Centennial Boys Curling Team by the narrow margin of 9-8. The Centurion Girls trounced their Centennial counterparts by the score of 9-1.

On December 13, our Boys Curling team lost to the Quinte Boys 10-2. It would appear that our Girls Team is on their way to another successful year. With their win over Centennial, our girls have completed the first half of the season undefeated.

Fare well

The Centurion Wrestling Team participated in the first league tournament of the season at Napanee on Thursday, Dec. 12. The CHSS grapplers fared well against teams from Napanee, Picton and Centennial High Schools. Mike Young at 98 lbs. and Dave Twiddy in the 106 lb. class each won two matches. Earl MacKnight at 136 lbs., Harvey Mumby at 148 and Neil MacLean at 157 lbs. rounded out the scoring by winning one match each.

Canadian studies

The Social Studies Department of CHSS has initiated in its Year 1 Canadian Studies Course (HCS101) a mastery learning project. In this, the teachers have isolated the skills an individual should possess in order to carry out an investigation in social studies. The skills have been arranged in a teaching sequence and through built-in remedial periods and will be taught and practised until they are mastered. Mastery will be represented by a grade of 70. For those students who achieve early mastery of the skills there will be a project valued at 30 marks, applying these skills of Social Studies investigation. At the end of the 1974-75 school year, the teachers will evaluate the project to determine whether or not this Mastery Learning Project will be continued.

Yule assembly

This year's Christmas Assembly will be one of the most entertaining assemblies ever held at Centre Hastings Secondary School. The School Spirit Club is boasting a majority of the acts which include two new groups: J. Walker and the Pedestrians, and Denise Do and the Don'ts. These two new groups will be making spotlighting performances; they might be described as rejects from the 50's but are certain to be entertaining in the 70's.

There will be some acts which have entertained us before at the Christmas Assembly. Making a return engagement will be the Meehan Sisters, Joan Donaldson, and the Teacher's Group will be taking care of the musical part of the show.

Back by popular demand are the Pointless Sisters and Chuck Mongolis who were highlights from previous assemblies. The School Band will play a few Christmas carols to create an atmosphere that will enable the whole school body to get in the yuletide mood.

This year the whole cast will be doing a second performance for the senior citizens groups from the surrounding areas.

Presently, the cast is working and rehearsing diligently in preparation for Friday's assemblies. There has been a great deal of effort devoted to this year's performances and it is hoped that this presentation will be well attended and appreciated.

The Hastings County Board of Education

IN MEMORIAMs

MORRISON - In loving memory of our dear Mother and Grandma, Carrie Morrison, who passed away December 20, 1963.

Always so good, unselfish and kind,
Few on this earth her equal we find,
Honourable and upright in all her ways,
Loyal and true to the end of her days.
Happy memories fond and true,
From us who thought the world of you.
Bruce, Doug, Myrle and Families.

FLEMING - In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother, Mary, who passed away Dec. 17, 1971.

When evening shades are falling,
And we sit in quiet alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing,
If she only could come home.
Friends may think we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile,
But they little know the heartaches,
Our smiles hide all the while.
Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by Percy, Vada, Reta, George, Lloyd, Jean, Alice, Elmer and families.

SACHS, Mrs. Charles - In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Mrs. Charles Sachs, who passed away December 16, 1951. Lovingly remembered by daughters Mabel, Marg and Lillian and grandchildren Don, Marion, Bob, Jack and Bill.

BIRTHS

McKEE - To Mr. and Mrs. Richard Charles McKee (nee Anne O'Connor) at Belleville General Hospital, on December 2nd, 1974, a daughter, Angela Dawn.

WE WOULD LIKE to express our sincere thanks to all our friends, neighbours and relatives for their many acts of kindness, letters, cards, gifts and prayers while we were patients in Campbellford Hospital. Also special thanks to Dr. Mendum, Dr. Parkin and the staff of Campbellford Hospital. - Mr. and Mrs. Dermont Bedore.

SPORTS CORNER

THE 1974 MIAMI DOLPHINS HAVEN'T DOMINATED THE N.F.L. AS IN SEASONS PAST BUT THEY'RE STILL A TEAM ALWAYS TO BE RECKONED WITH. ONE REASON:

Bob Griese

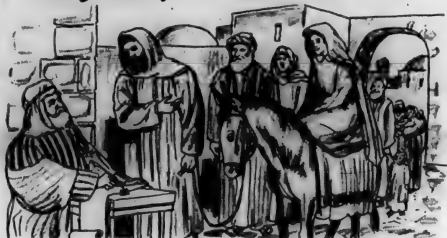

- RATED BY MANY AS THE "COMPLETE" QUARTERBACK, THE FORMER PURDUE STAR HAS THE GOOD ARM, THE QUICK FEET, AND PROBABLY THE SMARTEST MIND OF ALL THE GREAT N.F.L. SIGNAL CALLERS.

The Journey To Bethlehem ...

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

(And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)

And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem: (because he was of the house and lineage of David:)

To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

— St. Luke 2:1-6

Bill Smiley's column didn't make it in time for publication this week.

Your week ahead.....

ARIES
Mar. 21 - Apr. 19

In the weeks to come, don't become sidetracked by problems that are not yours. Stay with your own projects, tasks and missions. Also, get more advice than you give.

TAURUS
Apr. 20 - May 20

There's a tendency, on your part, to fight back when your mind is disturbed. Cool it! Put the pieces together when you're not emotional... then get in your licks.

GEMINI
May 21 - June 20

Avoid the habit of too much "self analysis." Bluntly, you're prone to create problems that don't exist... especially, with members of the opposite sex.

June 21 - July 22

You're not one who likes to share your problems or worries. If you, really, look into things... you'll find that most of your "fears" are based on self created uncertainties.

LEO
July 23 - Aug. 22

Pride and anxiety are at the bottom of your problems, in general. Watch how well you perform with the attitude: Who much cares — a hundred years from now!

VIRGO
Aug. 23 - Sept. 22

It's a fact of life, distrust in others is one of your hidden problems. Allow for good intentions; you'll discover how persons will favor you in the long haul.

LIBRA
Sept. 23 - Oct. 22

Balancing the scales, on sex questions, is not your strong point. Face reality when you weigh "good" against "bad." You'll be surprised with improved affairs of the heart.

SCORPIO
Oct. 23 - Nov. 21

Emotional "ups" and "downs" in your reaction toward others are, indeed, problematical. You'll discover a stabilizing effect if you seek to help persons, less fortunate than yourself.

SAGITTARIUS
Nov. 22 - Dec. 21

A big drawback? Misunderstandings and tactlessness, on your part. The solution? If an apology doesn't work... abandon the situation that caused your problem, in the first place.

CAPRICORN
Dec. 22 - Jan. 19

Your aims take on a strange twist. Once you do reach what is called "success"... you'll seek what you do believe to be "complete success." Only Capricorn understands the difference.

AQUARIUS
Jan. 20 - Feb. 18

Diffused interests, this year, might cause you a loss of direction. Consult your friends, when you become over anxious about a particular project, you'll abandon superfluous goals.

PISCES
Feb. 19 - Mar. 20

There could be a lack of method in your present project. Don't attempt sudden changes, in the next several weeks. Reorganize, gradually! Otherwise, you'll heap confusion on confusion.

TOUGH NEW LAWS

Snowmobiles now; boats next?

By DON FREDERICKS
Toronto Sun Syndicate

Tough new legislation aimed at reducing snowmobile accidents has been introduced in the Ontario Legislature. It calls for the testing of drivers and provision of hefty fines for violations of regulations.

The bill would also set the minimum age for driving snowmobiles on public trails at 12 years and would make helmets compulsory.

Age restrictions would also ban drivers under 16 from all highways and those under 14 from crossing highways.

The bill would ban snowmobiles from all serviced roads, except those where drivers were specifically permitted under bylaws passed by municipalities.

Among new proposals are those to require dealers to register snowmobiles within six days of sale and owners to attach signs showing registration numbers on both sides of machines.

The bill would ban snowmobiles from all provincial highways and secondary roads except those exempted by regulations, and require drivers to cross serviced roads at a right angle.

Driving permits would be issued for those over 12 years subject to examination set down by regulations.

The bill would also require insurance for all drivers on public trails and highways and require drivers to produce evidence of insurance on request of police or conservation officer.

Penalty for failing to produce proof of insurance would be a maximum fine of $500.

Speed limits for snowmobiles in 30-mile-an-hour zones or parks would be set at 15 miles an hour. On public trails or traffic zones greater than 30 miles an hour, snowmobiles would be restricted to 30 miles an hour.

However, municipalities would be allowed to regulate speeds greater or lower than those set down in areas under their jurisdiction. Mufflers would be compulsory.

The bill also calls for rigid tow bars for towing of sleds or cutters and bans towing snowmobiles from highways except at crossing points.

Private land owners would not be liable for unintentional dangers to snowmobilers resulting in accidents. And drivers would be subject to maximum fines of $500, for "knowing or unknowingly" driving on private land without written consent.

The bill would carry maximum penalties of $300 for violations except for provisions otherwise set down.

Last year there were 127 deaths from snowmobile accidents across the country with 41 of them in Ontario.

These strong measures make good sense on the part of the government. But, now that there are signs of snowmobile control, isn't it time someone took a close look into boating where similar, and sometimes worse problems occur.

ONE FOOT IN THE FURROW

A bright and wonderful time

By BOB TROTTER

Christmas has always been a bright and wonderful time around our house.

These happy celebrations, I'm sure, began with the Depression days when my brother and sisters were young and really knew little about crass commercialism and how much it cost to make those happy times.

We were born and raised in a small town in central Ontario, 80 miles away from the big city lights of Tranna. The homestead has changed drastically over the years. At one time, in my childhood, it had one of those crazy wrap-around verandahs that sprawled around three sides of the house. That verandah had as many dips and dives as a pie crust along the floor and the ceiling.

I suppose it would be there yet except that it got too unsafe for human habitation.

During the Christmas season each year it took on a new elegance even though it was collapsing under the ravages of time. It had fancy frescoes around the eave with matching elbows fastened to the posts. The elbows and eaves would always be decorated with pine and spruce boughs and hung with colored tinsel the children saved throughout the year.

This was long before the days when everyone lived better electrically. Colored lights were rare. Only a few of the snobs on Bond Street could afford that nonsense in those days.

It was a family ritual to head for the evergreen bush south of town to get the Christmas tree. My father had a standing agreement with the man who owned the bush. Dad was a grower for 40 years. He grew flowers commercially and had a hand in planting flower beds around many grave-stones in the local cemetery. The agreement was that he—my dad—would plant a small flower bed around the farmer's family cemetery plot every spring in return for a free Christmas tree in December.

I think we were always one of the first families in town to have our tree up. With five kids, mom and dad would traipse out to the bush about the first week in December. We would be wrapped in macintosh jackets and "bum-freezers," as the shorter coats were known in those days.

I had a leather hat with ear-lugs and real goggles that could be lowered over my eyes when the wind blew cold.

I'm sure Dad had his eye on the tree long before we got there but he would make quite a ritual out of choosing the right one. Everybody had to agree on the tree before he would cut it down with a couple of deft strokes with a sharp axe. He originally came from a farming-and-lumberjacking family and surely knew how to handle an axe.

Putting up the tree was also a family ritual. Once again, none of your fancy electric lights; just plain popcorn strings, colored paper, tinsel and few store-bought baubles. Somehow, those trees, as I recall now, shone just as bright as today's.

Of course, such times are impossible for everyone these days. Most of us have to buy a tree that has been cut for five or six weeks from a cluster of anemic looking specimens in a Jaycee or Scout lot. The fire prevention people keep telling us that artificial trees are less dangerous. The emotional environmentalists tell us how wasteful it is to keep cutting pine and spruce saplings just to be thrown out in a few weeks.

And the soaring inflation rates tell us how silly it is to spend five or 10 bucks for a real tree.

We haven't succumbed to the artificial tree yet. But I suppose it will come.

In any event, it is the spirit that counts. Which sounds trite and maybe a little old-fashioned in these days of undeclared wars, inflation, energy crises and dishonest politicians.

But a few moments of reflection on the real meaning of Christmas, no matter what faith you are, brings a little glow of unselfishness even to the hardest of hearts.

Whether you think the Christ was only a man or the Son of God; whether you think He was simply a great philosopher or the voice of God; whether you think He was a great teacher or the spirit of God made manifest, at this time of year, His admonition to love one another is just as wonderful and clear today as it was almost 2,000 years ago.

Bless you at Christmas and throughout the year.

DARN THOSE RABBITS!

It's a matter for real concern

The possibility of rabbits nibbling bark from your fruit trees this winter is a matter for concern.

"Although the damage caused by rabbits is usually less severe than that caused by mice, they can ruin a tree," says Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist, D. B. McNeill. "And, unless you trap, snare, or shoot them, there is no control. All you can do is to reduce the damage."

Try a mixed pan

If you give plants for Christmas, surprise your friends by presenting something different, such as a mixed pan.

Consider arrangements particularly appropriate for Christmas - a single red poinsettia, surrounded by a ring of white chrysanthemums, for example.

Also effective would be a mixed pan that includes several kinds of foliage plants, or an ornamental pepper plant, asparagus fern, a Geranium, a Begonia, and some coleus or dusty miller.

Wind tree guards around all trunks to discourage girdling. In areas of heavy snowfall, wrap burlap or sacking around the trunk above the tree guard, to prevent rabbits from eating the bark above it. The latex paint and thiram mixture, available from most garden supply stores, is also effective in reducing damage by rabbits. Apply it carefully, following package instructions exactly.

Self-watering quench plants' thirst

Watering of houseplants is easy to forget. One solution for the owner with thirsty plants is a self-watering planter.

These are now available at many plant and garden centres in a wide range of sizes, shapes and colors to enhance any home.

"Self-watering containers come with a detailed set of directions to make home plant care easier," says Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist, J. H. Hughes. The majority are made from rigid plastic and are constructed so that plants can be potted straight into them. Watering is done through capillary systems that draw water from the reservoirs below.

We've come up with at least three winners in the Marmora and District Lions Club newspaper bingo.

Winners declared as of press time were Mrs. Catherine Brownson, R. R. 1, Eldorado; Mrs. Yvonne Pemberton, 52 Queen St., Norwood and Brenda Jewett, R. R. 3, Havelock.

Lion Brian Goodchild reports ticket sales on the bingo were down considerably from the previous bingo, and in all probability the bingo will not be resumed in the new year.

For And About Teenagers

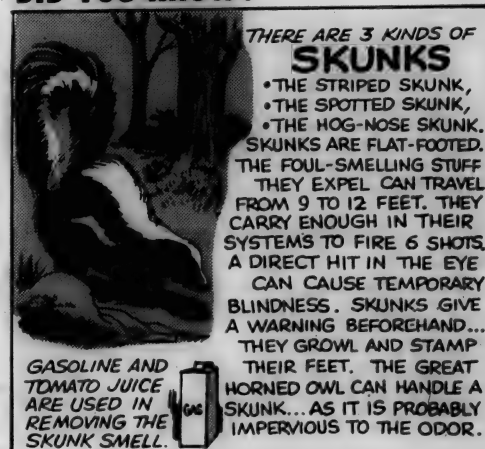

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I'm a teenager and am talking for all teenagers everywhere. We feel that what adults do we should do but in a different way. I mean to be able to go out at night without being caught for curfew; not to be told what to do even if we got a thought of our own. We are able to think of things we think are right or wrong and not be told like little babies. We are almost adults. We would like to be treated at least a little like them. Do you think we should be treated different than babies?

OUR REPLY: Yes, you should be treated different than babies. You should be treated as teenagers — because that's what you are. The sooner you accept the responsibility for being just that, the adults that seem to be treating you like a baby will recognize your actions and give you more and more responsibility. The main thing to remember is that you are a teenager — not an adult. Believe it or not, nobody wants you to become an adult more than the adults that surround you. Before you reach that stage, though, you, like all those before you, must pass through the teenage years. Accept the fact that you are a teenager. Obey the rules and laws that exist for you. As you do so, they will soon disappear, and you will move into the world of adulthood. For now you're a teenager, so dig it!

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY. 40601.

A KING IS BORN

Angel tells shepherds of "Savior"

BETHLEHEM - Shepherds who claim a baby boy born in this Judean community today is the "Savior" say they were told of the birth, and its significance, by an angel.

"We were in the fields watching our flocks," one of them said.

"All of a sudden, an angel appeared. It really scared us, and we were completely speechless."

"The angel said, 'Do not be afraid! For I am here with good news for you, which will bring great joy to all people. This very night in David's town your Savior was born - Christ the Lord! This is what will prove it to you: You will find a baby wrapped in cloths and lying in a manger.'"

"Then, suddenly, a great army of angels appeared. And they were singing. Singing praises to God."

"'Glory to God in the highest heaven! And peace on earth to men with whom he is pleased!' they sang."

"After we regained our composure, we decided we had to get into Bethlehem as soon as we could to see the baby the angel had told us about."

"And here he is."

"Praise God. Praise God."

Mary admits shepherds right

BETHLEHEM - Mary, the mother of the baby that is being hailed here as "Savior", "King", "Christ", "Lord", etc., admitted today that the shepherds were right in their assessment of the birth.

She said an angel had appeared onto her some months before, and like the shepherds, she was at first afraid too.

"But," Mary noted, "the angel said 'Peace be with you! The Lord's with you, and has greatly blessed you!'"

"I was troubled by these words, and wondered what they meant."

"Then the angel said, 'Don't be afraid, Mary, for God has been gracious to you. You will become pregnant and give birth to a son, and you will name him Jesus. He will be great and be called the Son of the Most High God. The Lord God will make him a king, as his ancestor, David, was, and he will be the king of the descendants of Jacob forever; his kingdom will never end.'"

Mary said she told the angel that she was a virgin, and asked, "How could it be."

"The angel replied, 'The Holy Spirit will come on you, and God's power will rest upon you. For this reason the holy child will be called the Son of God. Remember your relative Elizabeth. It is said that she cannot have children; but she herself is six months pregnant, even though she is very old. For there is not a thing that God cannot do.'"

"I told the angel I am the Lord's servant; may it happen to me as you have said."

"You know the rest - Joseph and the shepherds have told you."

Joseph, Mary and the new born child

As we see it...

Let's not forget the real Christmas

Today's front page tells the story of the first Christmas Day - as it may have been told, had today's modern methods of communications been available.

We devote our entire front page to the story because without Christ there would be no Christmas.

We would remind one and all, that while the Yuletide season is indeed a festive occasion, and a time for a variety of parties, get-togethers, etc., it is a time when we should all give thanks for the greatest gift of all - the Son of God!

Today's paper is the last of 1974. Our first edition in 1975 will be released Wednesday, January 8.

God bless each and every one throughout the Yuletide season and the new year that lies ahead.

People hail babe born in stable

BETHLEHEM, Judea - People here today are hailing a new born baby as a king.

While early reports are rather sketchy, reliable sources say the child was born in a stable behind a hotel because his parents - a Joseph and Mary from the town of Nazareth, in Galilee - couldn't find room in any of the community's hotels, tourist homes or private residences.

A bright star, said by astronomers to be a new one, shone brightly overhead.

Shepherds, who had been watching their flocks during the night, arrived at the stable saying the baby was the "Savior - Christ the Lord."

They said they had been in the fields watching their flocks when a angel appeared before them, told them that the Savior had been born, in Bethlehem, and that they would find him wrapped in cloths in a manger.

It was the first indication there was anything unusual, or especially significant, about the birth from a public viewpoint.

But Mary later admitted to reporters that she had received prior knowledge - an angel had appeared unto her, and had foretold of the events that would take place.

By this time a crowd had gathered, and all were filled with wonder at the shepherds' tale.

As the news spread, more and more people arrived to see the baby, and join the talk on what it all meant.

Parents came for census

BETHLEHEM - The parents of the new born child people here say is a new king came into the community early this morning.

Joseph and Mary had come to Bethlehem to participate in the census ordered by Emperor Augustus. It calls for everyone to register themselves in the town in which they were born.

"We came to Bethlehem because King David was born here, and I am a descendant of him," Joseph explained.

Mary, he said, had made the trip by donkey and he had walked beside her.

"We looked all over for some sort of accommodation, but couldn't find any."

"People are here from all over, and I guess many of them were finding themselves without accommodations."

"When Mary's labor pains started, I grew more desperate with each no vacancy sign."

"Finally, I arrived at this hotel, and the manager was really sympathetic."

"I explained the condition of my wife, and he said he was sorry that there was no room available inside the hotel - even the lobby was full - but that we could use the stable if we wanted it."

"We were really glad to get it."

When the baby arrived, Mary wrapped him in cloths, and placed him in a manger."

"Joy to the world - the Lord hath come!"

Christmas in Bethlehem

Bethlehem is a little city, and it does not take many people to crowd it; but, besides being the birthplace of Jesus, it is the birthplace of Israel's great warrior-king, David.

When the thoughts of the civilized world turn to Bethlehem, many wonder how the people there keep this greatest religious holiday. Very few American children can visit the little city, yet a number of travelers from America and Europe come to the Holy Land every year. Travelers want to be among those who crowd the streets on Christmas Day.

The Church of the Nativity has been built in Bethlehem. It is because of this that Christians in the "City of the Nativity," rejoice and proclaim "peace on earth" and "good will toward men."

A procession of bishops, priests and people form in the square in front of the church. Each is dressed in his most gorgeous robe. Christmas Day in Bethlehem is not the Christmas Day we know; it is full of religious ceremonies, and when these are over young and old go back to their accustomed life. Christmas to them is much the same as any other day of the year.

Who would not be glad to spend a Christmas eve and day where He who made the glad day possible was born?

Bargaining in bad faith?

Despite the conciliatory moves by the Civil Service Association of Ontario Eric Winkler accused the organization of bargaining in bad faith.

Winkler, the cabinet minister responsible for dealings with the civil service, said the strategy of the CSAO "has been to use any device or excuse to delay the negotiations, in order to bring the province closer to their illegal strike deadline."

Opposition leader Robert Nixon and New Democratic Party leader Stephen Lewis immediately attacked Winkler's statement.

Nixon said there was no purpose to the statement and all it would do is serve to aggravate an already touchy situation. And Lewis told the government to quit negotiating in public.

The CSAO represents 60,000 civil servants in the province and 20,000 of them, in the operational services.

Our good wishes keep growing and growing. Our warm gratitude for letting us serve all of you.

$1,400 damage in accident

A two car collision on Highway 7, one mile west of the Skootamatta River, has sent two persons to hospital and left an estimated $1,400 damage to the vehicles involved.

Dave McLellan, 10 North Hastings Ave., Marmora, is listed in fair condition at Belleville General Hospital. Charlotte McCaffrey, RR 2, Madoc, was also taken to Belleville General and is listed in satisfactory condition.

The two cars had collided on the highway early Tuesday evening.

Merry! Merry! Merry! Ring Christmas Bells

Ring around the world and across the ages, bells are a part of the traditions of Christmas.

Zurich, Switzerland, has long been recognized for beautiful bells. Every Christmas Eve, the Zurich bells ring out loud and clear, calling families to church.

This same tradition is repeated in thousands of other cities, where chimes and bells ring out at midnight from the steeples and spires of churches.

Bells contribute to the sights as well as the sounds of the holiday season. They are a popular decoration and are used as ornaments on trees.

It is said that bells inspired Clement C. Moore to write his famous poem, “A Visit from St. Nicholas.” The inspiration came from listening to the merry jingle of bells on his horses' harness, as he drove along on a frosty winter night.

Enters house, takes and leaves money

The Peterborough detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police has requested the assistance of this newspaper in bringing to the attention of area residents a number of complaints received of a man entering the houses of the elderly and removing antique articles.

The man is described as being approximately 5 feet, 7 inches tall, with a medium complexion, and driving a 1974 blue Dodge pickup truck.

The man's method of operation, according to a police spokesman, is to knock on a door and to immediately enter the house whether invited or not.

He will then go through the house and choose one or more of the home's articles, offering the owner an amount of money. He will then leave with the article, the spokesman said, whether or not the owner wished to sell.

The man has covered a wide area from Cobourg as far as Havelock and anyone being approached by him is asked to contact the nearest detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

Economy is relatively strong

The Canadian economy is relatively strong when compared to those of other industrialized countries but still faces the prospect of continuing slow growth through much of 1975, the president of the Canadian Bankers' Association says.

J. Allan Boyle, executive vice-president and chief general manager of Toronto Dominion Bank, predicts in a year-end forecast that real output will advance by only 3 to four per cent during 1975, slightly lower than the gain of more than four per cent during 1974.

And he says inflation "will ease only marginally" with prices likely rising by nearly 11 per cent.

"At a time when many nations face the prospect of declining output, substantially higher rates of unemployment, and critical balance of payments problems brought on by soaring energy costs, Canadians can take some comfort in the fact that our nation is unlikely to face such serious economic problems," Mr. Boyle says.

"While difficulties, including limited growth and rising unemployment remain in the first half of 1975, Canadians can be confident that the underlying strength of our economy will see us through until the resumption of growth in the latter half of the year."

"Canada's relatively favorable prospects are based upon the continuation of rapid growth in business investment, a major source of strength in recent years," Mr. Boyle says.

"In addition, the recent expansionary federal budget has sought to supplement earlier indexing of tax brackets in order to sustain a reasonable level of consumer demand and at the same time to offset some of the erosion of purchasing power caused by inflation. It has also provided some incentives to increase savings and to encourage continuing expansion and modernization of industrial capacity."

Mr. Boyle says the housing industry should benefit from anticipated general easing in interest rates and from the recent lowering of federal taxes on building materials.

Count on half a pound per person

Count on a half pound of whole turkey per serving, and that means about one pound per person if you want second helpings. Thus a 16-pound turkey will feed sixteen to twenty. But, if you want leftovers, buy a 20-pounder, which is a good size for taste and tenderness, too.

A 20-pound bird takes three to four days to defrost in the refrigerator, or about 12 hours in a sinkful of water. In either case, leave the turkey in its original plastic wrapper until it seems thawed. Then unwrap as soon as possible, and pull out the package of giblets from inside the turkey. Often these are still frozen, indicating that the inside of the turkey is also still frozen. Finish thawing either at room temperature or, if you are not in a hurry, in the refrigerator. Keep thawed turkey under refrigeration, since it spoils more rapidly than fresh turkey, and plan to roast it within a day, or at most two days, of thawing.

Try these Lizzies

4 cups sifted, all purpose flour
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons baking soda
1 cup butter, very soft
2 cups brown sugar, firmly packed

4 eggs, beaten
¾ cup brandy
3 cups chopped seedless raisins
½ pound citron (or mixed candied fruit), chopped
8 cups pecans, chopped

Sift flour, cinnamon, nutmeg and soda together. Cream butter. Blend sugar into butter then add beaten eggs, blending thoroughly. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with brandy. Coat pecans, raisins and citron or fruit with flour and add to batter. Drop by level tablespoons on to a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a moderate preheated 275-degree oven for 30 minutes. Makes about 10 dozen cookies which will keep for weeks (if you hide them) in an air-tight container.

Double Sweet Gift For Special Friends

Double a gift of homemade sweets by gift-packing it in always welcome kitchenware, colorfully trimmed and tied. Line a tall, clear-glass pitcher with paper, fill with goodies and top off with a bouquet of straw flowers and Christmas balls you've fitted with pipe cleaner stems. Or: stuff a large skillet with cookies and candies, cover and tie with jumbo yarn. Or: tissue wrap homemades and send them on their way in a wire salad basket or an apothecary jar you've lined with shiny medallions. Or: choose a red teapot for small sweets. Or: load a many faceted mold, turn it onto a wooden platter and secure with yarn.

Bright coffee mugs make perfect totes for sweets and are welcome in any home. Fill them with plastic-wrapped homemade sweets and top handle with a big bow.

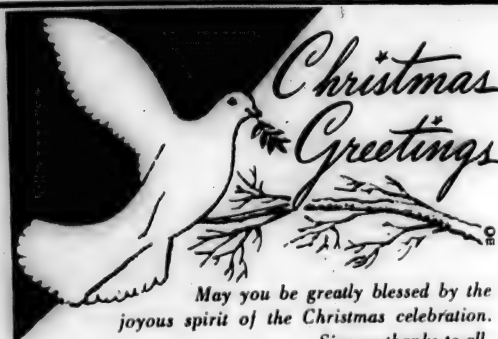

Use a set of measuring cups as a sweet-gift container. Fill each of the cups with homemade candies or bite-size cookies. Pre-wrap them in plastic wrap before filling the cups. Then overwrap cups with plastic wrap or shiny foil and tie cups together at handles. Trim with paper flowers or tree ornaments.

Nutmeg for garnish

Begin with eggs at room temperature. Separate eggs. Whip egg yolks until very light. Add bourbon in a slow steady stream as eggs continue to beat. Beat mixture until creamy. Add eggnog mix and milk to egg yolk-bourbon mixture. Set aside. Beat egg whites until glossy peaks form. Fold whites into bourbon mixture, add rum and whipped cream. Just before serving, sprinkle nutmeg over all. If you don't have a very favorite recipe for egg-nog—do try this, it's very very good!

POINSETTIAS

Blood from heart broken young girl...

Mexicans tell the story of blood falling on the ground from the broken heart of a young girl and from each drop, a poinsettia plant grew. The poinsettia, traditional flower of the Christmas season, was known to the Mexicans as "Flor de la Noche Buena"—Flower of the Holy Night.

The Yuletide emblem was discovered by Dr. Joel Roberts Poinsett, a native of Charleston, South Carolina, in 1928 while he was U.S. minister to Mexico and the flower was given his name.

Dr. Poinsett sent some cuttings of the plant to Robert Buist, a Philadelphia nurseryman, who specialized in collecting new plants. He named it "Euphorbia poinsettia" and later it was classified in botanical terms, Poinsettia pulcherrima.

The poinsettia has become one of the most popular Christmas emblems. Many people enjoy a gift of the potted plant and pictures of it appear on Christmas cards and ornamental wrappings.

You will need heavy-gauge wire for forming a circular frame or hoop, evergreen branches six or eight inches long, and light, flexible wire for fastening branches to the hoop.

the first, like shingles on a roof, and fasten again. Continue adding branches in a counter-clockwise direction until wreath is finished.

Decorate your wreath with cones, berries, nuts, seed pods, dried weeds, bows, bells or other ornaments. It is better not to use spray paint, glitter or artificial snow—your wreath will retain its natural look.

When a hoop is completed, lay an evergreen branch face up on the left side of the hoop and wire the stem tightly to it. Then place the next branch so it overlaps

Christmas in Hawaii

Christmas was proclaimed a holiday in Hawaii in 1862 by King Kamehameha IV. That same year the first candle-light service was held. Today the Nativity scene is much in evidence in Hawaiian stores and at church and civic gatherings. Christmas carols have been sung with great enthusiasm ever since 1823 when an American missionary, Reverend Hiram Bingham, translated "Joy to the World" for the Islanders.

Evergreens do not grow on the Islands but every year thousands of Christmas trees are transported by ship from the Pacific Northwest. Often the trees are painted white to simulate the snow-covered trees Hawaiian children have never seen. They are trimmed with balls and tinsel just as on the mainland, but Hawaiian leis made of shells, nuts and flowers are added, too.

The Hawaiian greeting for "Merry Christmas" is "Mele Kalikimaha!" But this is only one of the many forms of greeting, for the Hawaiian citizens are of many races and tongues. They live on their beloved Islands in harmony, and at no time is this more apparent than at the holy season of Christmas when all unite in celebrating the birth of the Infant Jesus.

The boys and girls of our fiftieth state can only imagine what a snowy Christmas would be like. They often eat their Christmas dinner out-of-doors. Afterward, they take part in sports and games.

What it means to me

by Ada B. Smith

Just what does Christmas mean to me?
Christmas carols, a lighted tree,
Star-lit skies and glistening snow,
Children's faces with joy aglow,
Christmas cards, ideal picture books,
Confections by note-worthy cooks,
Commemerating God's great love,
That sent His Son down from above;
Our guide and comforter to be
And save the world, by heaven's key.

I thank my God on bended knee
For Christ our Lord's nativity
Born in a stable rude and bare,
To a blest mother's loving care.
Born to rebirth the human race
Through faith in God's unfailing grace.
And ye who care to walk with Him
His blood will cleanse you from all sin.
All men through Him may brothers be:
This is what Christmas means to me.

Madoc police hunt hit and run driver

Madoc provincial police are currently searching for a hit and run driver involved in an accident in Madoc Wednesday at the intersection of Madawaska and Russell Streets.

The driver of a second vehicle involved in the mishap, Robert Daynard, 17 5th St.,

The other vehicle, he said, failed to stop after the collision.

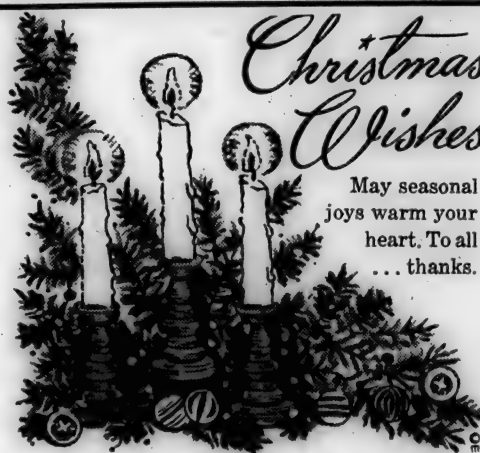

Damage to the Daynard vehicle, a van owned by Booth's Radio and TV store, was placed at $300.

Natural gas supplies will fall short of demand

Canada's natural gas supplies will fall short of domestic demand next year, said Ontario Energy Minister Darcy McKeough.

In a statement to the National Energy Board, McKeough said the shortfall will widen and extend at least until 1978.

"The hard fact is that in Ontario there is a shortfall of supply relative to demand already," he said. "For the past several years, Ontario distributors have been unable to contract for all of their requirements from Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd."

McKeough said the situation, aggravated by inept government handling, "urgently requires" consideration of natural gas allocation in the marketplace.

"Our concern about the seriousness of the gas supply situation has heightened over recent months," he said. The federal government's Petroleum Administration Act, recently re-introduced as Bill 32, is adding to the concern, he said.

"The new bill will give the federal government the authority to seek federal-provincial agreement on natural gas prices and failing such agreement, to impose a price." This would destroy competition among buyers and would make more difficult the task of Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, whose main function has been the delivery of Alberta gas to Ontario.

McKeough urged the board to consider three other measures:

Curtailement of existing level of natural gas exports to the United States.

- The earliest possible completion of the Mackenzie Valley pipeline of the delivery of Arctic gas;

- Short-term expansion of production at existing fields.

Focal point

A tree may be the focal point of your living room this Christmas, but azaleas, poinsettias and other growing things make particularly appropriate Christmas decorations.

The azalea, a shrubby evergreen, produces flowers in Christmassy shades of red, white and lavender, as well as pink.

"It does best in an east window at a temperature of 55 to 60 degrees F," says Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food horticulturist, D.M. Sangster. He recommends that the plant receive a thorough watering at frequent intervals.

From early December, poinsettias in a wide color range of red, dark red, pink, and white, should be available at your garden or flower center. Keep your poinsettia in a well-lighted spot at about 65 degree F. Its bottom leaves may yellow and fall if it is in a drafty location or if its roots are allowed to dry out.

Red or pink blooming Reiger begonias last for weeks in moist, well-drained soil. Keep them at 70 degree F during the day and not lower than 55 degree F at night.

The cyclamen, with its red, white, pink, or mauve flowers, requires frequent watering and plenty of light. If it is kept at about 65 degree F during the day the 50 degree F at night and fertilized sparingly a few weeks after it has been purchased, it should last for several months after Christmas.

For an unusual touch to your Christmas decorations, try a kalanchoe. A short plant, with groups of tiny, red flowers, it may need water as often as three times a week, and does best at 70 degree F.

A pioneer style Christmas

Touch of past at Black Creek Pioneer Village

TORONTO - Black Creek Pioneer Village recaptures the spirit of Christmases of early Ontario.

From November 23rd to January 5th, Village staff demonstrate how settlers, prior to Confederation, prepared and observed the Yule. The Village houses display the simple decorations of the period - wreaths of evergreen boughs, garlands of cranberries and popcorn and the traditional kissing balls. The kitchens are filled with the aromas of freshly baked fancy breads, cakes, mince-meat and puddings.

For the early settlers, Christmas, in addition to being a religious event, was a welcomed break in an otherwise busy and spartan life style.

The settlers observed Christmas in many different ways. For some it was strictly a holy occasion - a time to praise the Nativity. For others it was a time to visit with friends and make merry. The homes at Black Creek are decorated to reflect these traditions and rituals as well as the ethnic origins and degree of prosperity of the original householders.

The earliest home, Daniel Stong's first house, built in 1816, is representative of Pennsylvania German life. Decorations are simple. A small evergreen, decorated with dyed fleece and apples, is found in the kitchen with a few homemade presents - warm mittens, socks and small toys - beneath the tree. Christmas dinner is plain but included some special treats. Here visitors will see demonstrations of open hearth cooking.

The second Daniel Stong house was built in 1832 and reflects the improved prosperity of the household.

Members of the Evangelic Church, they didn't believe in frivolity. The holiday celebration was still a family affair. The traditional evergreen tree contains more elaborate decorations - fancy cut cookies and garlands of popcorn and cranberries. A few token presents, which would have been bought at the local store, have been added to the list of homemade gifts. In place of Christmas stockings, plates would have been filled with fruits, nuts and cookies set out on Christmas Eve for the children.

At Half Way House, an 1850 inn, a centerpiece on the dining room table, bowls of nuts and fruits and a kissing ball in the hall recalls the welcome extended to travellers.

The Catholic background of the Daniel Flynns' is reflected in the small creche of straw and the lighted candle in the parlor window. Inexpensive toys were purchased at the local store for the children along with embroidery wool for the lady of the house.

Burwick House, with its lavish swags of evergreen and berries, indicate the British background and prosperity of the original householders. Gifts are more novel and in some instances quite elegant. They would have come from the larger shops of Toronto. Food preparations are elaborate with cakes made of spices, and candied and imported fruits - dates, figs, oranges and lemons graced the family table.

The Mackenzie Home has been decorated to reflect the 1867 period. Christmas trees were becoming increasingly popular. There is a combination of homemade and store bought decorations on the Christmas tree as well as store bought gifts. By the mid 1850's the Santa Claus tradition was observed and a stocking has been hung from the bed. Special Christmas treats are displayed in the kitchen, including almond paste fashioned into fruit shapes.

The pulpit of Fisherville Church is decorated with cedar boughs. Carolers stroll the Village streets singing selections of carols between 2:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m. on weekends.

The Village is open weekdays from 9:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. and on weekends from 10:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The Village will be closed Christmas Day and New Year's Day only.

A pleasant spot to stop for lunch or tea is the restaurant in Half Way House. The restaurant is fully licensed and will feature a special "Christmas Dinner" (by reservation only) on the following Sundays in December: the 1st, 8th and 15th. For reservations phone 636-4713.

Black Creek, located at Jane Street and Steeles Avenue in Northwest Metro Toronto, is administered by The Metropolitan Toronto and Region Conservation Authority. For further information contact 630-9780.

THE PROPRIETOR of Laskay Emporium arranges a display of Christmas wares in the store's window.

GOD REST YE MERRY, Gentlemen - A group of Villagers gather around a doorway of a Village home to usher in the Yuletide with carols.

Pope to open door sealed 25 years ago

A quarter century ago a door was sealed at the entrance to St. Peter's Basilica in Rome. This Christmas Eve, Pope Paul VI will unseal it and enter the Basilica to inaugurate the Roman Catholic Church's Holy Year, 1975.

Already pilgrims are beginning to pour into Rome for this celebration. During the last Holy Year in 1950, a few thousand were able to participate via local television in Rome itself. In 1925 there was only limited radio coverage internationally.

But this Christmas Eve, for the first time, viewers around the world will see the event close-up on television via satellite. Canadians will watch it on a special edition of Meeting Place introduced by Donald Henderson on CBC-TV at 11:30 p.m. Dec. 24. (Meeting Place is a series of Canadians at worship, regularly scheduled on Sundays at 11 a.m.)

Following the ceremony, cameras will follow the Pope into the Basilica as he celebrates the Christmas Mass. The broadcast will be directed by Franco Zeffirelli, director of theatre, opera, and such films as Romeo and Juliet.

The first Holy Year was proclaimed in 1300 A.D. by Pope Boniface VIII, based on the Old Testament Jubilee year. He hoped that Christians who otherwise would crusade to the sepulchre of Christ in Jerusalem would seek instead the tombs of the apostles in Rome, and receive a plenary indulgence. This year six million or more pilgrims are expected to visit Rome. Their theme will be renewal and reconciliation.

St. Peter's was built during the Renaissance, partly under the supervision of Michelangelo, whose masterpiece The Pieta stands in one chapel. Elsewhere are works by Bernini and Raphael. Beneath the Basilica are said to rest the bones of St. Peter, the first Pope, martyred in Rome.

IT'S CHRISTMAS TIME AGAIN

By Jean Beatens Trent Kiver

It's Christmas time, its Christmas time When all the world seems joined by rhyme.

The choirs sing, the trumpets blow And everywhere is white with snow. People gather lots of Holly To decorate and make things jolly. Mothers everywhere are busily cooking, While children stand wide-eyed, looking, Breathlessly awaiting Santa on this night Led by Rudolph, with his nose so bright. Then as happy children go to bed They listen hard for Santa's tread, And wonder how on earth they missed him When they wake up in the twilight dim, Chanting to everyone in rhyme That once again, it's Christmas time.

'75 a year of confrontation

By DAVID ARCHER
President, Ontario
Federation of Labor

One doesn't require any gift of prophecy to predict that the year 1975 will be a year of confrontation. The political leaders at both Queens Park and Ottawa must be aware that the anger of aroused citizens and workers will not be deflected by the platitudes and placebos they have offered in place of the action required to correct the social injustices in this province and this country.

Inflation is no longer a distant peril. It permeates every part of our economy and it has raised the spectre of an actual starvation level of subsistence among those least able to cope with the problem - the old, the infirm, the working poor and the unemployed.

In the past year we have watched the growing frustration and anger of those most affected by an uncontrolled economy and the indifferent beauracracy - the workers of this province. While the steelworkers, the auto builders, the craftsmen, printers and - yes, the teachers and civil servants, read accounts in the press of the day by day erosion of their buying power, often on the same page they saw columns of figures that demonstrated the unconscionable rise in corporate profits. The rip-off by these huge multi-national corporations was best described by David Lewis in his election campaign, but for those who would deny Mr. Lewis' charges, the documentation of exhorbitant profits and usurious interest rates is readily available in the published reports of the business year.

If, as some claim, profits make the wheels of industry go round, then those wheels must be spinning at an alarming rate. Yet we do not see this tremendous activity reflected in the employment rate. While prices go up - so does the unemployment total.

If any final proof was required of the social inequity of inflated prices and profits, it was the action of many large employers who agreed to open contracts early for negotiations or who unilaterally granted their employees a lump sum cost of living bonus.

But Cola clauses will only maintain purchasing power - not improve it. And a

Many people cannot look forward to happy reunions with their families at Christmas. These are the inmates of prisons, the elderly in nursing homes, the sick in hospitals and other institutions which The Salvation Army visits every Christmas to make sure that those who are so often forgotten, are remembered on this special day.

healthy majority of Ontario workers - in unions and out of them - must improve the benefits they receive for their labour.

The example of the few employers who did recognize the inflation problem has had little effect on the thinking of those with the power to grant these improvements. In recent months we have seen a provincial arbitration board bring in an award that was actually less than the minimum wage.

In 1975 we of the trade union movement must be prepared for confrontation if we are to improve the lot of the working people of this province. And we must be prepared to accept responsibility to ensure that those not protected by a union are not abandoned in this fight for social justice. The people on fixed incomes, old age pensions, those working in unorganized plants, the working poor, are our natural allies.

In 1975, we of the trade union movement could be instrumental in electing a government to Queen's Park that will respond to the needs of the citizens of this province. This, I would suggest, is our ultimate responsibility.

IN MEMORIAM

McGARVEY Delbert - In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Delbert McGarvey, who passed away December 29, 1971.

He is gone but not forgotten,
And as dawn's another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking,
Thoughts of him are always near,
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
Many think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow,
That lies within the heart concealed.
Lovingly remembered by wife Muriel, Bob and Kathy.

McCANN - In loving memory of a dear mother, grandmother and great grandmother, Mrs. Carrie McCann, who passed away Dec. 24, 1963.
In a little village graveyard,
Not too far away from home,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
Thank God she's not alone.
Past her suffering past her pain,
Came to weep the tears are vain,
She who suffered is at rest,
Gone to heaven with the blessed,
Sadly missed by sons, daughters and families.

Seymour home among unique

By Kay Peacock

One of the most unique houses in the Village of Madoc is the one known as the Seymour Home.

Built by Uriah Seymour for his son Frederick, plans for the home were started about 1874, and actual construction got underway around 1875.

It was completed about 1878.

The Seymours operated an iron foundry and obtained the ore in Madoc Township.

The plans for the house came from Heidelberg, Germany, where Frederick attended the University and received his Ph. D. degree. He saw a house the same as the one built here, and in falling in love with it, obtained the plans for same.

The grounds originally consisted of 6½ acres of land, and along with the stone house, a carriage barn was erected, as was a double tennis court and the iron foundry.

The finished basement consists of three large rooms, plus a wine cellar, vault and a brick cistern.

The main floor and second floor consist of 10 rooms as well as two bathrooms, one up and one down. The floors are of pine, and in the attic or third floor, a projection booth was built to show lantern slides.

The chimneys are self supporting from the footings in the basement and have six fireplaces attached to them throughout the house.

A slate roof and copper gutters keep the weather out. In 1939, the first complete oil furnace and humidifier was installed and the humidifier used 20 gallons of water per day.

Mr. Frederick Seymour married Helen Josephine Wood, the daughter of Mr. A.F. Wood, who at one time was reeve of the Township of Madoc, and the Warden of Hastings.

Mr. Fred Seymour passed away in 1910 and his wife lived in the house until 1937 when Mr. Clute Foster who ran for member of parliament purchased it and was the owner until 1944.

Dr. F.J. Nickle, who at one time attended school in Madoc during the early 1900's would walk by the house admiring it and wishing to own it. He purchased it in 1944 and unfortunately passed away only four months later.

Mr. W.J. Syman then purchased the home and in turn sold it to Mr. John Atkinson. Other owners of the home include Mr. Douglas Master, Frank Melanson, Mr. Victor Gallo and finally the present owner, Mr. Sony Osborne.

Cablevision run by volunteers

By Mary Johnston

As the cue lights change from green to yellow, the reels on the video-tape machine start winding. The studio is hushed and expectant, waiting for the technical director to give the signal to start. Suddenly, the red light comes on, the camera zooms in on the moderator, and video-tape starts recording.

"Good evening ladies and gentlemen. Welcome to another program of The Moderator."

With these words, the filming of another television program begins. Recorded on video-tape, it will be beamed to Madoc viewers on CHAN channel 4, during a regular Sunday night broadcast several weeks later.

Channel 4 is community television, produced for and by the residents of Madoc. Programs are geared to the village of Madoc, and the viewers are an exclusive group—those who are on the cable television hook-up of Hastings Cable-Vision.

"Our job is to appeal to a minority. We don't try to put on entertainment, but feature and promote local talent, local news, and local events", says Gordon Pigden, co-owner of Hastings Cable-

Glen Nickle, co-owner of Hastings Cable Vision, acts as floor manager and comeraman at a CHAN, channel 4, taping session.

Vision, the company that financially supports channel 4.

Some of the community shows that have been televised showed children from the public school singing, a Halloween party with the senior citizens, and a municipal nomination meeting.

Although channel 4 is one of the smallest cable stations in Canada, run entirely on volunteer help from the community, several programs have won awards from the Canadian Cable TV Association.

One of the winners was "Musical Syrup", a program featuring Frank Bosley and his family collecting maple syrup and playing music.

Fourteen of the programs have been used as educational tools, finding their way into the files of the board of education. Among these were Today's Lumberjacks, Juvenile Court, prepared by a judge, and Milking Muskie.

Channel 4 was the first station to interview a pilot from Trenton who flew the FLQ members to Cuba, during the 1970 crisis.

Cabinet asked for family planning branch

The Ontario cabinet, in Ottawa for the second of 12 "on the road" meetings, was asked to create a separate department of "family planning and human sexuality."

The request was contained in one of more than 40 briefs presented over a four-hour period.

The brief, from an organization called

Planned Parenthood Ottawa Inc., said the department would co-ordinate all family planning and sex education programs in the province.

It would also provide education programs, consultation services and wide-spread distribution of contraceptive and venereal disease information through the media.

May you and your family enjoy a happy holiday. We thank you warmly.

Mistletoe kissing

The custom today of giving a kiss of love or peace beneath the mistletoe, although a relatively modern one, is derived from the fact that down through the centuries the mistletoe has been recognized throughout the whole world as a symbol of lasting peace.

Ancient Europeans considered the mistletoe a magical medicine. They carried it about with them for health and luck, and believed it a cure for ulcers and epilepsy as well as a charm promoting fertility.

Mistletoe traditions are said to have begun with the ancient Druids. They attributed great power to the plant. It was supposed to prevent disease and keep away witches. Mistletoe means "all heal."

LOOKING BACK....

...with Karen Jones

15 years ago

The property on Elgin Street known as the Dale property and owned by Mr. Arthur Reid, of Millbrook has been purchased by Mr. Bill Tailon of Toronto. The deal was arranged by Mel Caverly, local realtor.

North of Napanee on Highway 41, a car driven by Rev. George Coulter of Napanee went out of control when he attempted to slow for traffic ahead. The car struck a tree, killing the driver and fatally injuring Mrs. Coulter, who died later in Kingston General Hospital. Mrs. R. C. Jackson, wife of Magistrate Jackson of Madoc, is a daughter of the dead couple.

Mr. Robert Moorcroft, principal of Hillcrest School, Belleville and formerly of Madoc, who holds a Bachelor of Arts and a Bachelor of Education degree, was informed recently by the University of Toronto that he has been successful in his work towards a Master of Education degree. He successfully passed his course in Diagnostic and Remedial Treatment and Supervision and has one more year of post graduate work to complete before obtaining his M.Ed. degree.

Increases in licence fees for about a third of Ontario's motor vehicles in 1960 were announced recently by Transport Minister Yaremko. The increases range from $2.50 to $5. The adjustments will bring the province $2,200,000 in new revenue for a total amount of about $25,000,000.

"The categories under which the vehicles are licensed will be reduced from seven to four," Mr. Yaremko said. The vehicles affected by the increases are: cars up to 28 horsepower, $15 from $10; dual-purpose vehicles, such as station wagons, and commercial vehicles with a maximum gross weight of two tons, $20 from $15; small trailers less than one ton, $5 from $2.50; motorcycles, except those owned by municipalities, $10 from $5.

At this time I would like to wish each and every one of the Looking Back column readers a very Merry Christmas and the best in the New Year.

The annual Santa Claus Parade was held in Madoc Village on Thursday afternoon last week. Headed by the Havelock Kiltie Band, the procession formed at the Armouries where over 1,000 children received bags of candy and Cracker Jack.

The parade, sponsored by the Merchants of Madoc and the local Kiwanis Club, included floats, story book characters and finally Santa, who arrived travelling in a decorated yellow Packard Convertible driven by Mr. J.D. Childerhose of Belleville.

Santa's means of transportation was provided through the courtesy of Mr. M. Robertson, of the Belleville Creameries.

Due to an epidemic of whooping cough in the district, the usual free movie was not held this year.

Clarke Rollins, warden of the County of Hastings, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis weekly dinner held in Blue's dining room last Friday evening. Mr. Rollins gave a very informative address on county affairs, particularly the building of the new county home, which is expected to be completed this summer.

The speaker was introduced by reeve Jack Kincaid and Kiwanis appreciation was extended by Jim Watson.

Believed to be the first auction sale locally, the newly formed Trapper's Council in Flinton area organized a fur sale last week which was attended by several outside buyers.

According to Conservation Officer Davis, good mink pelts sold as high as $30 and the new venture was quite a success. Resident trappers as well as trapline licensees attended.

Judge J. C. Anderson of Belleville, County Judge for Hastings, has been appointed local Master of the Ontario Supreme Court in Hastings. His appointment was recorded in the current issue of the Ontario Gazette. Judge Anderson, a one-time mayor of Oshawa, was born in Bancroft in 1902. He graduated from the University of Toronto in 1923 and from Osgood Hall in 1926 and was appointed Hastings County Judge in 1946.

Modern day version of old time favorite

Hark - The Herald Angels sing
We may have frozen feet by spring.
This has been quite a hectic year
The next one may be worse, I fear
The Jews and Arabs locked in hate
The scandal of the Watergate
So many problems still unsolved
We'll be long gone when they're resolved.

The unemployment fund is broke
It's time the taxpayers woke
And asked those guys in Ottawa
Just what they were elected for Twenty billion bucks they shot
A thousand bucks per head - for what?

Illegal immigrants from Jamaica
Bronchitis and bad colds will shake ya.
When January chills your blood
Montego Bay will sure look good.

The Hurons here did hunt and thrive
No oil required to stay alive
They went by dog team and canoe
And next summer so may you
When they were cold, they chopped up logs
When things got tough, they ate their dogs.
The thought of that may give you pain
We may come back to it again.

Can go on Welfare it is true

Resents the bum, - who's so relaxed
But still they come, from every shore
To raise our taxes, more and more
Some day we'll all quit what we're doing
And see how fast things go to ruin
There is no reason why a worker
Should have to pay to feed a shirker
As we approach the Christmas season
We gradually lose our reason

Hanukkah

Among the holidays at this time of year is the Jewish celebration of Hanukkah. Because Hanukkah is generally celebrated in December, it is sometimes referred to as the Jewish Christmas. As at Christmas, gifts are exchanged, candles are lit and it is a time of rejoicing.

Even though there are similarities in the customs celebrated at Hanukkah and Christmas, their origins and meanings are entirely different and Hanukkah predates Christmas.

Hanukkah is an eight day festival commemorating the military and spiritual victory of Judas Maccabaeus and his army over the King of Syria, who attempted to crush the Jewish faith in one God. Hanukkah, derived from the Hebrew word meaning dedication, is also called "The Feast of Dedication" and "The Festival of the Lights." It always starts on the 25th day of the Jewish month of Kislev. Because the Jewish calendar is based on the moon rather than the sun, the Jewish holidays fall each year on varying dates of the solar 365-day calendar.

May the blessings of the first Christmas be yours to cherish now and always.

Some 'after' Christmas menus

By Kay Peacock

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Next week, when just the sound of candy, cookies and rich food leaves you slightly perturbed, try this muffin recipe. They are moist and delicious. The Quick Yeast Rolls are easy to make and are good anytime.

Wilma's Muffin Recipe.

2 cups Kellogg's All-Bran
2 cups boiling water
3 cups white sugar
4 eggs
1 cup corn oil
1/2 cup butter
3 tbsp baking soda
1 tsp salt
1 quart buttermilk or sour milk
4 cups bran flakes
3 cups raisins
5 cups all purpose flour.

Pour boiling water over the all-bran and let it sit. In the meantime, mix all other ingredients in a very large bowl. Add and mix in the all-bran mixture. Bake at 350 until done.

This recipe makes five dozen muffins and will keep for three to four weeks in your refrigerator unbaked.

Quick Yeast Rolls.

1 envelope yeast
2 1/2 cups biscuit mix
1 egg beaten.

Dissolve yeast in one-half cup warm water in mixing bowl. Add biscuit mix and egg and beat well with spoon. Turn out on floured board and knead about five minutes.

Shape and pat with hands to one-half inch thick. Cut into 1 1/4 inch circles. Put on greased cookie sheet. Cover with waxed paper and let rise in warm place 45 minutes or until almost doubled in bulk. Bake at 400 degrees 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about two dozen.

Christmas Chimes

With more and more accidents happening in homes at Christmastime each year, a few fire safety tips might not only come in handy, but also might save a life.

Trim the tree well before standing it up, and keep it well watered.

Use only lights which carry the Seal of Approval.

Check all wiring.

Keep the tree light switch some distance from the tree.

Follow the manufacturer's instructions for lighting artificial trees.

Use non-flammable decorations wherever possible.

Remember your fuses and do not overload circuits.

Turn out all lights when going out, even for a brief time.

Don't leave lighted candles unattended.

THE HOLLY and THE IVY

The Holly and the Ivy,
When they are both fully grown
Of all the trees are in the wood,
The Holly bears the crown.
O the rising of the sun,
And the running of the deer,
The playing of the merry organ,
Sweet singing of the choir.
The Holly bears a blossom
As white as any flower;
And Mary bore sweet Jesus
Christ
To be our sweet Saviour.
The Holly bears a berry
As red as any blood;
And Mary bore sweet Jesus
Christ
To do poor sinners good.
The Holly bears a prickly
As sharp as any thorn;
And Mary bore sweet Jesus
Christ
On Christmas in the morn.
The Holly bears a bark
As bitter as any gall;
And Mary bore sweet Jesus
Christ.....
For to redeem us all.
The Holly and the Ivy
Now both are full well grown:
Of all the trees are in the wood
The Holly bears the crown.

Keep Fire

In Its Place at Christmas

A happy Christmas can change in a few moments into a family tragedy, warns Fire Chief Lindsay Empey, in homes where fire safety precautions are neglected. Such precautions should head the list of every sensible family's preparations for Christmas, he says.

The Fire Chief urges the public to exercise special care in the setting up and decoration of Christmas trees, and draws attention to the following important points:

. If plans call for a natural tree it should be bought fresh and green, and kept outdoors or in an unheated garage before being brought into the home for decorating. Then, one or two inches should be cut diagonally from the butt, and the tree should be set up with the butt in water which should be maintained above the level of the cut.

. Check strings of electric lights carefully for worn insulation, broken plugs or loose bulb connections. Only CSA-approved lighting sets and only non-flammable decorations should be used. Declare the tree a no-smoking area and keep matches out of the hands of children.

. Do not allow discarded gift wrappings to accumulate under the tree. Dispose of them as soon as the gifts are opened. Even a green tree will burn if ignited by burning paper around the base.

. Set up the tree away from heat sources such as fireplaces, TV sets or radiators. Do not allow it to block access to doors or windows in the event of fire. Switch off tree lights at bedtime or when leaving the house.

. Fire Chief Empey points out that tests have proved that the safest tree is a tree with its butt set in water. However, if a tree has dried out before it is set up, it cannot regain its safe moisture level. A dry tree can be ignited by a single match, to burn violently to a charred state in a few seconds.

. Even artificial trees can be serious fire hazards. Metallic trees are conductors of electricity, and should not be decorated with strings of lights, but illuminated with floodlights. Some plastic trees, made from styrene materials, are flammable, unlike those made from Polyvinylchloride.

. All trees should be removed from the home as soon as possible after the Christmas celebrations.

Christmas time in Italy more of adult festival

Christmas in Italy is more a festival for grownups than for children. Families gather together on Christmas Eve and talk around the fireplace while they watch the "appo," the Christmas log throwing sparks up the chimney. Then they sit down to supper, the "cenone", there is no meat, for Christmas Eve is a fast day, but there are dishes prepared in every way imaginable. The meal ends just before midnight when all go to Mass.

NOTICE

Regarding parking vehicles on Village streets during winter months.

In order to properly snow plow the streets it is necessary that no overnight parking be allowed on the streets. Offending vehicles will be towed away at the owners expense.

The co-operation of the public is requested at all times during storm periods to keep parked vehicles from interfering with the snow plows.

The Village forces are going to attempt to keep the sidewalks clean this winter. This too, will require the co-operation of the public and those doing custom snowplowing, to avoid pushing snow and slush on to the walks, where it would freeze and stop the snow blower.

Arrangements can be made by individuals or places of business at the Village office to have accumulated snow on private property removed by the Village forces, at the time when snow is being taken from the streets. Charges in this case will be based on cost.

Chairman of Streets.

Full time doctor for Land O' Lakes Clinic

Dr. W. Nuttall, MPP for Frontenac-Addington, announced this week that a full-time doctor has been found for the clinic which previously operated under a PSI grant.

The new physician is Dr. George Neeson, formerly of Bramalea, a young general practitioner with considerable experience. Dr. Neeson will be living at Cloyne and continuing the Northbrook clinical practice of a group of doctors previously directed by Dr. Richard Milne of Kingston.

This is the fulfillment of a promise made this spring by Premier William Davis and the Honorable Frank Miller, Ontario Minister of Health, that a primary Health Centre system for this area be funded on a permanent basis by the Ministry.

At present, patients come to this clinic from as far away as Denbigh, Plevna, Harlowe, Arden, Kaladar, and Flinton. The nearest hospitals are located at Belleville, Napanee and Kingston - a distance of over 45 miles. The nearest doctors are at Tweed, 25 miles away.

A great deal of credit for this progress is due to Dr. J.S.W. Aldis, Director of Community Health Services, assisted by Maurice Lacerte, Project Officer for Eastern Ontario. Dr. W.J. Copeman, Senior Medical Consultant for underserved areas, was instrumental in recruiting Dr. Neeson for Land O' Lakes.

Dr. Nuttall is pleased with the outcome of Channel 4 is able to scoop important stories because it is the only television station in the area.

Local programming at channel 4 began in July 1970, in a tiny 25 feet by 18 feet room above Pigden's Radio and Television Shop, with a staff of inexperienced volunteers. Funds for the television equipment came from Hastings Cable-Vision, a company with two major share-holders, Glen Nickle and Gord Pigden.

Gord Pigden first became interested in broadcasting when he had a boot-leg radio station in Eldorado before the second world war.

"The Department of Transport was always chasing me but I never got caught, says Gord with a chuckle.

The war put an end to his radio career, but he retained an interest in broadcasting that prompted him to make the venture into cable TV.

The group of untrained volunteers that filmed the first program in 1970 have become skilled technical operators over the past four years. Fifteen people can now run the cameras, five are floor managers, three work as technical producers, and five are sound men.

The type of volunteers involved in local programming varies from ministers and school teachers, to housewives and students.

Captain Thompson, an Anglican minister, has hosted a program since the inception of community programming. He recently completed his 94th show.

In his opinion, the role of community broadcasting is "to foster local community involvement by getting them to produce their own programs."

Captain Thompson regards his broadcasting role as part of his ministry.

"Since we live in an age of TV the communications media is a way of life, a way of reaching people", he says.

As host of The Moderator, Captain Thompson has interviewed a variety of people on many topics. He recently taped a program with volunteers from the Belleville Tuberculosis and Respiratory Diseases Association. Breathing techniques for children with respiratory diseases were demonstrated and viewers were told about the Christmas seal campaign.

Channel 4 broadcasts every second

Sunday night from 8 pm to 11 pm. The programs have proved so popular with viewers, that a past program is re-run each broadcast, to fulfil special requests.

Channel 4 also televises special programs in between regular broadcasts, if a special event occurs.

The community really takes to channel 4, says Mr. Pigden.

"Without their support and interest we would never be able to survive. When we telecast, there is hardly a television set in Madoc that isn't tuned in to our programs," he says.
